Allegro.

The musical score is presented in five systems, each with a treble and bass staff. The first system begins with the tempo marking 'Allegro.' and includes a 'L.H.' label. The second system includes 'R.H.' and 'L.H.' labels. The third system includes a 'L.H.' label. The fourth system includes 'R.H.' and 'L.H.' labels. The fifth system includes a repeat sign. The score is written for piano with treble and bass staves.

The first system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. Both staves have a key signature of one sharp (F#). The music features a series of eighth and sixteenth notes with various accidentals, including sharps and naturals.

The second system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. Both staves have a key signature of one sharp (F#). The music continues with eighth and sixteenth notes, including some beamed eighth notes and rests.

The third system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. Both staves have a key signature of one sharp (F#). The music includes a measure with a flat (Bb) in the upper staff. The notation includes "R.H." and "L.H." markings above and below the staves, respectively, indicating right and left hand parts.

The fourth system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. Both staves have a key signature of one sharp (F#). The music features a change in key signature to two flats (Bb and Eb) in the second measure of the system.

The fifth system of musical notation consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. Both staves have a key signature of one sharp (F#). The music concludes with a double bar line and repeat dots at the end of the system.
