Singing Method brought it to its present state of perfection; after very many strainent? experiments and improvements in manuscript, on large diagrams, as published | We commend these remarks to the common sense and experience of the in the "Vocal School," and in private lessons and exercises, during about fif- public, and the present work and system as a remidy for the evils referred to, teen years. Friends at that time, induced them to publish the Numeral Har- and as furnishing a pretty good supply of music for all the uses of public wormony, and friends now, whose numbers have increased, have encouraged ship. A large portion is entirely new, and has been urranged and harmonized them to publish a still larger work. The ease and rapidity with which persons with unwearied pains, to say nothing of its merits. In regard to that and the of all ages can learn to road music at sight, and sing in all keys in this method, system, we are truly glad that the people will judge for themselves. We tender is wonderful, and entirely beyond the belief of singers in the old method, until to gentlemen in different parts of the country, wassenames we have not room they see a school in a few evenings made better readers of music than choir to enumerate, our sincere thanks, and the thanks of future generations, for the members, who have been to school and sung in church or otherwise for twenty; interest they have taken, and are still manifesting, in some cases at a sacrifice, years. This remark is positively true-does not except more than one in fifty to promote the One Line Sight Singing Method. Trachers write us that "it of all the singers in the country, and is abundantly sustained by teachers and must prevail." None need trouble themselves about the old system; let that leaders of choirs who have used the Numeral Harmony. All this, after all, take care of itself. We enjoin it on all who wish telearn, or who desire to is not more wonderful than travelling by steam sixty miles per hour, or than improve music and singing, to try this system, and or all who are convinced writing by lightning 200,000 miles per second; but it is surprising that any that it is the best, to use all reasonable efforts to romote its introduction every who profess to be the friends and promoters of church music, should oppose where. This they can efficiently do, by comparing publicly and privately, the this method, probably because they had no hand in its invention or promulga- old and the new systems together. Of those who have arrived at the honotable tion; or, because its success must diminish the sales of music in the old nota- distinction of "old singers," and of the thousands who have tried to learn to tion But they are the few-while the great mass of mankind is open to the sing the old way and have given up in despair, scarcely one would ever have convictions of common sense; especially, when the difference between two sys- attempted, had they been told at the outset what must be accomplished, and tems draws in the one case heavily on their time and pockets, and rewards how much time, money, and patience, would be necessary. Every church may be filled with singers, with praise to the Most Would that we could feel such gratitude as we ought to a kind Providence, High; every family may have at hand a fund of the sweetest enjoyment; in every school room, all who have learned their A, B, C, may read music in all efforts in promoting this method thus far, though we have had to meet the most keys. In this country, these things can never be done by the old method: for unreasonable opposition. after all that has been done and said, the number of singers in our congregations is small, and by satisfactory inquiry, it is found that not more than one in twenty of the members of choirs can read the plainest music at sight; so that the true definition of the phrase "Old Singers" is-those who do not know how to read music. By the New Method, choirs will immediately become perfect readers in all keys, and large numbers of persons in our congregations, who have good voices, good ears, and a taste for music, but who have not had time or patience to learn the old way, will at once learn to sing understandingly. These have been the first fruits where the system has been introduced. Who does not know that the great reason why so few learn to sing is, because the old method is so difficult to master and comprehend! And who does not know that the principal reason why our church music throughout the country is so poorly performed, is, because nearly all the singers, after all, know but little Boston December 20, 1848.

RULES AND EXERCISES

FOR

READING MUSIC AT SIGHT,

WITH QUESTIONS TO AID BOTH THE TEACHER AND PUPIL.

Chapter 1.

Departments or General Divisions,

ARTICLE 1. The rules, instructions and exercises for sight singing, we have arranged under four departments, as follows:

FIRST, MELODY, which relates to a succession of sounds differing in pitch.

SECOND, RHYTHM, which relates to sounds differing in length.

THIRD, DYNAMICS, which relates to sounds differing in force.

FOURTH. MUSICAL ELOCUTION, which relates to a correct intonation of voice, and pronunciation of words.

2. Such is the nature of music, that the different departments will be intermingled in theory and practice, though in the main, considered separately.

Questions.

1. How many departments? What is the first? The sec- | Pronounced ond? The third? The fourth? To what do they severally relate? 2. How will they be taken up?

Chapter 2.

MDLODY. On the scale, production of sounds, posture of the body, and comparative distances of the scale.

At the foundation of melody lies a series of sounds, called the DIATONIC SCALE. The different sounds of the scale are indicated by numerals, which represent both the pitch and the order of the sounds.

- 2. Practise the scale by syllables and numerals until the numerals and their musical names are identified in each other. In reading music, it is recommended to always use the musical syllables in calling and singing the sounds the numerals represent.
- 3. The 1 (do) of the scale being the most important sound, is called the TONIC, FUNDAMENTAL or KEY NOTE.

4. Sing no (1) with the mouth elongated perpendicularly.

Sing as (2) with the mouth a little opened.

Sing 211 (3) with the mouth the same as for no (2), but with the sides of the tongue pressed against the roof of the mouth, leaving a small aperture for the sound to escape.

Sing fa (.2) with the mouth elongated horizontally, as though about to laugh.

Sing sot. (5) with the mouth the same as singing DO (1).

Sing LA (\mathbb{G}) with the mouth about the same as for \mathbb{F}_A (\mathbb{A}).

Sing si (7) like mi (3)

- Do not change the vocal organs in the least degree, when producing any particular sound.
- Never make a drawling, nasal or unpleasant tone. Let the voice flow out clear and smooth as a river:—sweet, round and ringing like silver, and as jure as the mountain air;—in other words, sing in the opotion voice.*
- 6. Let the position of the body be erect—straight. Supply the lungs frequently with fresh air, and as often expel the bad air from the lungs.†
- The scale presents a series of steps and half steps, or as some prefer, major seconds and minor seconds. The half steps occur between 3 and 4, and 7 and 8.

Steps and Hulf Steps of the Scale.

- The relations of steps and half steps in the scale, it is very important to remember and practically understand, as the scale is both the alphabet and grammar of music.
- 10. The exact comparative d stances of the sounds of the scale are represented below.

Comparative Distances.

*See Voral School, part IV on Musical Elecution.

The teacher will explain such other things as he may deem important. A living example is quite important for many things in relation to the voice

- Pianos, organs and all similar instruments are tuned in exact steps and half steps, or nearly so, not regarding the philosophical exactness as above given, though the voice with a good ear always strikes these distances. They will aid the pupil in learning the scale.
- From 1 (do) to 2 (re) is the distance or difference of 22. From 2 (re) to 1 (ini) the distances or difference of 20, and so on ascending and VICE VERSA descending.

Questions.

1. What lies at the foundation of melody? What called? How indicated? How sing? 2. How are the syllables pronounced? 3. What is 1 (do) called? 4. What the positions and yocal organs? 6. What sounds must not be made? With what your should we sing! 7. The position of the body, what? About the lungs? 3. The order of the sounds of the scale? Where the half steps? 9. What is the scale? 10. Comparative distances, what? 11. How are instruments funced?

Chapter 3.

MELODY Continued. On the intervals of the scale Major and Minor.

- 1. Differences or distances between sounds of the scale are called intervals; i.e., from one sound to any other is termed an interval. An interval including only two sounds, is called a second. One including three sounds is called a third, &c.
- 2. Counting from different sounds of the scale, we have Major (greater) and Mixor (lesser) intervals of seconds, thirds, &c.

3. Major and minor fourths, fifths, sixths and sevenths are reckoned in the same way from any sound in the scale. When we reckon from 1 (do) in one scale to 3 (re) in the scale above, &c., we call the intervals maths, tenths, &c.

Note. See Hamilton's Catechism of Thorough Rase: Burrow's Base Primer: Harmony Made Easy, by Charles Czernev.

Questions.

1. What are distances between sounds called? 2. How do we reckon intervals? 3. How reckon Major and Minor fourths, &c.? From 1 (do) to 2 (re) in the next scale is what? To 3?

Chapter 4.

MELODY and RHYTHM. Bars; Measures; Strains; Beats; the Dash; Accent; Common and Compound Time and Measures; Whole and Half Notes and Rests.

ON TIME.

- The marks drawn between the sounds in music are called Byrs, of which there are two kinds, single (thin) and Double (thick) bars. From one single har to another is a Measure;—bars divide the time into equal measures.
- 2. Double hars show the end of a STRAIN or line of poetry. Sometimes they are used in the place of a single bar, as below. Sometimes they divide measures. They have nothing to do with the time. A strain may embrace a scale, more or less; a line in poetry, or a sentence in prose, set to music.
- Now sing the scale slowly, first ecunting ONE, then TWO, then THREE, then FOUR to each sound (numeral)

Different kinds of Time.

Different kinds of vocal and instrumental music give rise to two kinds of time, Common and Compound.

Common time has one primitive part to a beat in a measure. Compound time has THREE primitive parts to a beat.

On the use of the Dash.

The *HORT DASH - indicates that the numeral or sound after which it is placed its to be prolonged to twice its usual length. The MEDIUM DASH - indicates that the sound after which it is placed should be prolonged to three times its usual length. The LONG DASH --- prolongs the sound indefinitely, to make out the time.

COMMON TIME AND MEASURES.

6. Common time is used for church and instrumental music, and has three forms or kinds of measure, viz :- Dovate, of two beats and two parts; TRIPLE, of three beats and three parts; and QUAD-RUPLE, of four beats and four parts. The move- three primitive parts to a beat.

S. Any number of sounds may occur to a single beat in any kind of measure, if they are short enough to keep the time correct.

COMPOUND TIME AND MEASURES.

. Compound time is derived from two or more triple measures, and is mostly used for instrumental music. It has three forms or kinds of measure, viz :- compound Double, compound Triple and COMPOUND QUADRUPLE. Each kind of measure has Whole and half Notes; -- whole and half Rests.

I I . Numerals are regarded as signs of SOUNDS, or NOTES. So any numeral of the scale is a SOTE. A numeral without any thing attached, sustains the relation of a HALF NOTE :- i. e., it radicates a sound one half as long as one with a SHCUT dash after it, which is called a whole Note.

Rests are signs of shence. The whole beat,

Chapter 5.

Exercises in Singing and Beating Time; in the lower, middle, and upper parts of the Scale.

It in point of comparison, to learn to sing were a hundred things, to sing the scale correctly would be ninety-nine. Hence the great importance of inductive snaging exercises in the scale indufferent skips and forms of measures.

Harmonies of the Scale.

The more perfect sounding hodies, like, for instance, a church bell, give out 1, 3, 5 and 8 of the scale. These sounds are strongly related to cach other by a simple ratio, which exists between the vibrations of each in consequence of which they are, when produced together, agreeable to the ear-or more harmonious. They occur more frequently in music than any other sounds, and constitute the framework of harmony. They are to me scale, what the vowels or tonic elements are to language.

	0.0	6.4	6.6	ooze.

There are six pure elements as above.

The Mixed elements are so called, necause they terminate in another called the vanish of the element. For instance, o in old, if slowly pronounced, would be a so -1 - d. The sound of the double so, through which the voice passes, is termed the vanish of the element indicated by o. The sound of o before the voice passes to so, is termed the Radical of the element, and is the part of this element which should be prolonged in singing. It would be improper to let the voice dwell on the vanish (sound of so).

Practical exercises in the tonic elements, though simple, are exceedingly important in aiding the singer to pronounce words with distinctness. In singing a mixed tonic element, the RADICAL must always be prolonged. The word old, for instance, should be sung o-ld, letting the voice vanish through the sound of oo, giving it light and quick.

The same is true of the vanish of every mixed element.

The vocal organs must be held on the radical perfectly firm, and without the least change of the mouth, tongue or any muscle, until the TIME requires an articulation or finish of the syllable or word. The voice should then shide rapidly through the vanish and articulate (i. e. make a joint) forcibly on the subtome or atonic that follows.

SCALE EXTENDED. Staff; Scales on one staff; Exercises in different Scales,

• When we have occasion to sing higher than one scale, we repeat the same syllables of the present scale, and observe the same order of steps and half steps. Thus one scale is precisely like another, except the differences of pitch.

STAFF.—On a single line, which is called a Staff, three successive scales are represented. One Scale, i. e. all the sounds of one scale, are written below the line. All the sounds of another scale are written on the line, and all the sounds of another scale are written above the line.

STAFF, CLEFFS, AND ADDED SCALES.

- To accommodate high and low voices, to get a sufficient compass for instrumental music, and to make due allowance for the change of key or pitch of times, Two Staffs are used; one for high and the other for low voices or sounds. One is called the Bass Staff; the one for low voices is called the Bass Staff.
- 2. The Treble Staff is a single horizontal line, thus; ——, and is indicated by this character. Which is called the Treble Cleff. The Bass staff is a single horizontal line, thus; ——, and is indicated by this character, thus, E, with two dots succeeding. It is called the Bass Cleff.
- On the treble and Base Staffs five scales are represented, which furnish sufficient compass for all vocal purposes.
- Common Scale.—The scale between the two staffs is common to both; i. c. it is the scale below the Treble staff and scale above the Base staff, and it is therefore called the Common Scale.

Chapter 11.

LENGTH OF NOTES AND RESTS.

1. Notes.—We have already learned whole and half notes and rests (chap. 4). Such is the comparative length of sounds in music, that it becomes necessary to have notes sustaining shorter relations

2. Numerals with stems attached thus—

133, &c., sustain the relation of Quarter Notes.

Numerals with a hook and a stem attached, thus—

1 3 3 &c., sustain the relation of Eighth Notes.

1 3 3, &e., sustain the relation of Sixteenth Notes.

Three hooks and a stem attached, thus—

1 2 3, &c., represent Therty-second Notes.

A stem and four hooks attached, thus—

1 23, &c., represent Sixty-Fourth Notes.

All the above, in addition to the whole and half notes, make seven different kinds of notes.

RESTS.—Corresponding to the notes are signs of silence, called RESTS. Whole and half rests have been explained (chap. 4). The rests have the same relations as the notes.

Notes have a relative but no particular length. A time in 64th notes might with propriety be sung as slow as the same time in whole notes.

Sing the following lessons in the relations of notes, from left to right; first the whole relations, then the half, &c.; sing the quarter, sixteenth, and other relations in a similar manner.

VARIETIES OF MEASURE; USE OF THE DOT.

Varieties of Measure.

- There can be as many varieties in each kind or form of measure as there are different kinds of notes (seven). And as there are six primitive forms or kinds of measure, three common and three of compound, we could have forty-two varieties.
- 2. The fractions at the beginning of music indicate a particular variety of measure. The numerator indicates the kind of measure—Double, Triple, Quadruple, &c. The lower figure, or denominator, indicates the relation of notes taken as primitives.
 - B. These fractions are called the Signs of the varieties of measure. A2 ever a 2 signifies that two half notes fill a measure. A 2 over a four signifies that two quarter notes till a measure.

The ordinary extent of a single voice is about an octave and a helf; and to accommodate music to different voices, four parts are usually written. Thus arises the Bass, or Lowest part in music, adapted to male voices only. Next above the Base is the Tenor, designed for ma voices only. Next above the Tenor is the ALTO, SPOOND, or COUNTER, adapted to high, thin voices of men-to boys to the age of fourteen, and to the lowest and firmest voices of females. THE CHROMATIC SCALE BY LETTERS; Pitch of Tunes; Table of Tonics.

Transposing the scale, as we have seen, into different letters, renders it necessary to divide all the whole steps; thus we have by the natural and chromatic sounds, a scale of twelve half steps, which is Iv altering the scale is called TEMPERAMENT, and called the Chromatic Scale. On either of these fixed sounds we can take & (do) as a key: hence there are really twelve different keys in music, one of which is when I (do) is on C, or in the Natural stringed instruments can produce correct sea es from position.

Chromatic Scale by Letters.

Let this character & indicate the sounds.

2. It will be seen that #C and Db are one and the same sound; so of #D and Eb, which are the same; #F and Gb, &c., i. e. we express the same chromatic scale by sharps and flats. Ascending, we read C, C sharp; D, D sharp, &c. Descending, we read C, B; B flat; A, A flat, &c.

On the Pitch of Tanes.

• Tunes always have a tonic, I (do) on some natural or chromatic letter, which is indicated at the beginning of the tune. Thus we say that the Kev, tonic, 1, or do, is on G, or A, or Bb, natural,

Without a knowledge of the transpositions of the scale, a common singer, with a pitch pipe, or any instrument upon which he can get the proper sounds of the letters, can easily get the sound of A, Bb, Eb, &c., which, according as the tune is marked, will be the sound of 1 (do) and from this, the pitch of the other parts will be readily obtained.

Tuning forks give but one sound, usually A or C; from either kind the voice can easily run up or down to the pitch or sound of the tonic (do).

The more common Keys are C, D, E[†], E, F, G,

 $A^{\mathfrak{h}}, A, B^{\mathfrak{h}}.$

4. TEMPERAMENT.—All Instruments are tuned in exact steps and half steps, or nearly so; which is a slight variation from strict correctness. This slightenables performers to play from any pitch. The ear and vocal organs would become weary by singing always from the same key. Experienced players on any key

TABLE. Illustrating the relative Pitch of all the different Tonics.

Any person who may wish to write music, will derive from the following table all the necessary information in relation to different Keys. The letters on the common staff represent the piten of § (do) when taken on letters with which it corresponds.

Pitch of Tonics Illustrated by the use of the Common Staff.

6. The sharped and flatted tonics are not all laid down, though, from the foregoing instructions, their positions will be at once recognized.

It will be seen that $\mathcal{S} = \{corresponds \text{ to middle } \overline{c} \text{ below the old Treble Staff. One (1) } \} = 1 - \text{key of } E^2$, won 1 be the same sound as E^5 on the old Treble Staff, lower line, &c.

As an arbitrary and necessary rule, we represent the difference between D and E, when regarded as tones, by an octive meanmon notation, thus; \in \S —in the key of D is really but one degree below $G_{\S} = \emptyset$ in the key of E, then, from E, to the next D above all the tonics come above the base staff. The next E comes on the treble staff, thus; $\{P_{\S}: P_{\S} = \emptyset\}$. It is by no means necessary that this table be understood, except by those who compose makes.

Chapter 21.

ON CHANTS AND CHANTING.

- Chanting, as an occasional exercise for a school, is important; and for Church service, is a most delightful and devotional exercise, though it is less effective to kindle the feelings and rouse the soul, than spirited melody. It deserves an honorable place in church music.
- 2. Perhaps the fewer the rules the better. The music of chants is generally very easy. Common chants confine the music to two strains, of three measures.

GREGORIAN FORM.

Chanting note.

I will run the way of thy com-mandments,

Chanting note.

When thou shalt en-large my heart.

(2)

GREGORIAN FORM.

O how love I thy law!

It is my medit - ation all the day.

Chanting is reading in musical tones, ALL TOGETHER. The first object of a school or choir is to distinctly pronounce all the syllables, as though there was but one voice reading or singing.

There is one important difference between singing prose and poetry. In chanting, each one should try to keep with the others. In singing metrical music, each one should sing as independent as though he were alone; i. e. should keep correct time. In chanting, the last two measures of the first strain, or all but the chanting note, may be sung in time, also the last three measures of the second strain, or all but the chanting note.

Questions.

1, 2. How many strains in common chants? 3. What is the first object! What is the difference between singing the chant and other music!

Chapter 22.

ARTICULATION.

- Good articulation is a great beauty in singing. Bad articulation results from bad teaching, or a careless enunciation—drawling words together—mumbling over syllables, and leaving many words unfinished.
- 2. We copy a few examples from the Vocal School, which, if studied with a view to correct articulation, will afford some aid.
- Ex. I. "Fix tin ane ternal state."
 For "Fix'd in an eternal state."
 Ex. II. "Will I for hell prepair."
 For "Will I for help repair."

The last example is of a shocking character; and shows how a slight departure from correct pronunciation, is productive of bad sentiment.

Another quite exceptionable case is where shepherds are made to swash their flocks, instead of watching them by night.

Ex. "While shephardz-swash their flocks," &c. For "While shepherds watch their flocks," &n

The d in the ends of words is often omitted: Ex. I

Thus, "His guardian han by day." For, "His guardian hand by day."

Ex. II.

Thus, "Ho! we that pan for living stream, Zan pine away-an-die-"

For, "Ho! we that pant for living streams, And pine away and-die."

Such, to say the least, is a very eareless, indolent manner of singing.

The error of separating it from the word to which it properly belongs, and of joining it to another, is most common and most confusing.

Ex.

Thus, "He by hi zown almighty wor, Dwil fall your fearz-remove; Fo revry woun dis precious blough Da sovereign balm shall prove."

For, "He, by his own almighty word, Will all your fears remove t For every wound, his precious blood A sovereign balm shall prove,"

3. Many, otherwise excellent singers, render their services of little worth by thus jumbling together the words of a hymn. Cases are not rare, for members of a congregation to have their hymn books ! open, (and if not sufficiently acquainted with music to keep the time of the time,) yet be none the wiser as to what line or word the choir are singing. By ses. Such music, it is true, may be PRETTY NOISE, but quite unsuitable to be substituted for the praises. of a christian church.

The v is torn from the word to which it be-40mgs:--

Thus, "Blessed comforter come down, And he van moo vin me."

For, " Bless'd comforter come down, And live and move in me."

7. EEROR ON THE V.-The principal error in singing this element, is, that of not beginning it separately, rather permitting the voice without an articulation of a previous element, to slide into it from another word.

Thus, "O turnve, O turnve," For, "O, turn, ye. O, to n, ve !"

It is a kind of tempter to a repronounce other words, because the voice easily slides into it.

Thus, " And Judy-our longing appointes," For, "And bids our longing appetites."

The error on w cors its in betting the voice slide into it, as in some c. ses, from a previous ele-

Thus, "In coworlz above, an ooworlz below," For, "In worlds above and worlds below,"

9. No.—This is purely a nasal sound, Sono, sive, rive, wrose, throne, kive, writing, prolone, ink, sink. I pon this element there is a very frequent and a very disagreeable unstake; vz, that of prolonging it instead of the tome element which is as follows:

Thus, song --- , king --- , in --- k. For, so-tig, ki-ng, i-nk.

This error is exceedingly unphersunt.

The man who "talks through his nose " is a kind of an anomaly, afford not a theme of spect to all; but when this masal sound is prolonged in the sanctuary, or on any occasion of entertainment in vocal music, the offensive impropriety produces a worthy disgust. the interludes, they will perhaps distinguish the ver- There is little danger of its being articulated with too much force; but it should be given quick, and

> 1 0. Larous on T .- Two general errors occur in singing this element, at almost every line of a hymn. The river, that of not articulating it with of so, arating it from the word to which it belongs, is VERY common.

Ex. I

Thus, "His paths, I cannow trace." I cannot race. For. Leannot trace."

For, " And plenteous is his grace."

Ex. IV.

" Ev'n crosses fro miz zovereign han."

For. "Ev'n crosses from his sovereign hand."

12. Error on Sh.—Many of the remarks on the element indicated by s, are applicable to this; though the error in the present case is not so offensive: the key of the element being at least an octave below that of s.

It is erroneously prolonged at the beginning, in the middle and at the end of words,

Ex. 1.

"For thy sh—ame thou sh—alt have double."
For, "For thy sha—me thou sha—lt have double."
Ex. H.

" Some fresh-memorials of thy grace."

For, "Some fre—sh memorials of thy grace."
Ex. III.

"Hath joys substanti—al and sincere." For, "Hath joys substantial and sincere."

It becomes very disagreeable, when made thus prominent. The hiss is an expression of disgust and contempt; and were there no other reason, this would he sufficient to forbid its being prolonged in singing. since the least prolongation of it more than is necessary for a distinct articulation, is productive of a feeling similar in its nature to that which induces the hiss. The nush is allied to the hiss; not however being so strong in character. We feel imposed on when we are hissed. We are constrained to a forced obedience, rather contrary to our wishes and dissenant with our feelings, when we are hushed. Nor can we rid ourselves of impressions similar in nature. though less in degree, when either of these elements is prolonged beyond what we feel to be a necessary articulation.

1 2. Error on H.—Mistakes in giving this element are very frequent. The error consists in omitting the element entirely, which serves very much to obscure the sense.

Ex. "Call, while may be foun Poh see-kim while 's near Serv-im wi-thall thy art-an mine Dan worshi-pan with fear,"

For, "Call while he may be found, Oh, seek him while he's near; Serve him with all thy heart and mind, And worship him with tear."

Two rules may be given as the result of the examination.

Tirst, in regard to the tonics.

RULE.—The radical of the mixed and the pure tonic elements ONLY should be prolonged.

RULE SECOND.—The subtomes and atonics should be forcibly given or articulated but not prolonged.

A general rule in regard to all the elements, may be briefly stated in the language of another.

"Always articulate with such energy, deliberateness and accuracy, that every sound of the voice may be fally and exactly formed, distinctly heard and perfectly understood."

Taking breath.

Never take breath in the middle of a word. Always endeavor to breathe all out before any more is taken in; or, keep a constant supply of fresh air in the lungs.

Taking breath eight times in a common or long metre hymn, is amply sufficient, if the voice has been rightly developed.

Chapter 23.

ARRANGEMENT OF MUSIC for the different Parts: the Dass; Solo Singing, ; Duets; Quartets and Chorus Singing.

- Music for a particular part is usually arranged on a single staff; and as most tunes are written for four parts, four staffs are necessarily required for common, and, indeed, for nearly all sacred, and for much of secular music.
- 2. For the Base and Tenor, the Base staff is used. For the Alto and Soprano, the Treble staff is used. The arrangement of the parts are as we should think their relative positions would require. The Base first; Tenor next above; the Alto next above the Tenor; the Soprano above the Alto.
- A character called a Brace, placed at the beginning of a tune, unites the staffs, and shows how many parts are sung together, or at the same time.

Representation of the Parts.

Brace.

1st Treble or Soprano; for the highest voices.

2d do. Alto or Counter, low female and boys do.

Tenor, for high male voices.

Bass, for low male voices.

Voices adapted to particular parts should always sing on those parts. A Second singer should not change to the First Treble, nor a First Treble singer to the Second Treble. A Jack at all trades, who is, consequently, good at none, is always changing. Tenor and Base singers should not attempt to sing the First Treble. From the fact that they are unable to do it, arises bad harmony, false progressions, and forindden chords. Let a person find out in the first place what part his voice is adapted to sing, then pay due attention, and make suitable efforts to cultivate a good taste, and duly exercise his voice in the compass of his appropriate part

To become a good solo singer requires private instruction, or such observation and practice as but few enjoy. A solo passage should so be sung, 1. e. by one voice.

A Duft (for two voices) should be sung by only two voices, and not by a somi-chorus of a half dozen. But when impracticable, the next best plan must be adopted. In a solo or duet, no other person should "hum," or make the least noise.

A Tato (for three voices) should be sung by three voices. A QUARTET, by four voices.

- 6. Confidence.—Persons can acquire confidence by practice; and a singer in the high-way of improvement, should not stop short of an acquired ability to perform all that may be expected of him.
- 4. Chores Sixging is when all together unite in all the parts, or in unison on one part " to swell th' exalted theme," in songs of praise, in words like the following:

"Salvation! O the joyful sound."

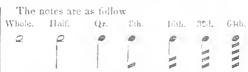

Then let every voice join in notes sublime. It is music when, at the extent of the voice, hundreds lift the joyful authem, "Glory be to God on high." is music when the softest notes of nature's molody die away upon the car.

1 How is mus'e arranged? How many staffs? 2 How of oted to partieut a car's? West at ses from the grant parts a sing ng? D. How come become a good solo singer? How should solo passages belong? What is said of humining while others are sing ug? What is said of a trio? 6 How is confidence acquired 1.7. What is said of chorus sing ng?

Reading Music.

To read music in the common way, it is necessary, first to determine the cleff; then the signature, and find the place of po on the staff. Each line and space being a degree, the syllables will be applied to the notes as follow:

Thus in all the Keys and on the Bass staff, find on what letter do (1) comes, then revd the degrees of the staff ascending, do, re, mi, &c., and deseeming from the tonic read the degrees, do, si, la, &c. When notes ascend or descend regularly, it is easy to apply the syllables, after having found the key. When they skip about, they must be learned and the main of the proper syllable applied to them, by counting the degrees.

Nore.-Herein consists the difficulty of reading music the usual way. To become perfectly tamiliar with all the keys, so as to read at sight, is equal in mental labor to the toil of acquering a good knowledge of the Latin language. Hence it I must decide the question, and with them we leave it.

is an humbling fact, that not more than one in fifty of all tho common surgers in the United States, who have been to school a half dozen or more quarters, and have occupied a seat, it may be, in a choir as many years, can read at sight the most simple music in all keys! This is positively true. To any one who may deny it, do no more than to open a common singing book, and let such an individual prove the incorrectness of this statement by reading a dozen (!) tunes, one or more in each key. Discussion on this point is useless-tacts speak louder. Not to say which is best, but in this respect the difference between the two systems of notation is very

The new system, by a short direct rail road, brings the learner at once into the heart of the musical field, where, from a gentle elevation (vocal practice) he can overlook the surrounding beauties, and satiate his chraptured imagination at

The common notation jobs the weary traveller (pupil) over log bridges, up and down hills, by a route so much like a labyrinth (learning to apply syllables to notes) that no one (learner) knows whence he came or whither he is going, except for his guide (singing master). On his arrival at the musical field he is placed down in one corner (natural key of one cleff). Having surveyed all this key, walled in by the peculiar application of syllables, affords, he is dependent on his guide to lead him on another labyrmth route, and at last arrives at another corner of the field (key of G). Thus every successsive key costs the poor traveller (pupil) a toilsome journey. Nor is it strange that he should be at a loss, after consuming much time and strength, to get a peep into all the keys, to remember what he saw in the first corner he visited.

This is positively and soleinally a true representation of the manner in which music has to the present time been taught and learned. Theory and practice multiply difficulties.

But in the system here presented, one key being learned, the whole secret is revealed. To learn music this way is pleasure, and once learned, how can it be forgotten? No more could the hystanders forget how to make an egg stand on one end, after seeing Franklin do it the first time. True, the public

Keeping Time.

1 (). Singing and keeping correct time depend on an accurate and familiar knowledge of the different kinds of notes thy thinically considered, and a familiar acquaintance with the application of syllables in different keys.

REMARKS. The One Line Sigit Singing votation is extending far and wide into many towns and villages in the United States and even farther west. It has been introduced into both Canadas and is universally admired by all who examine and use it. Being admirably adapted to all kirds of vical and instrumental Music. The public may expect in due time a full supply of music, and instruction books of all kinds in this Method. The proprietors of the Method have established a type foundry expressly for the New Notation type and books, and are now forwarding the publication of new and old music with all possible energy.

DAVID'S HARP, or Poston Sabhath School Song Book. The successive editions of this work testify strongin its favor. It has now been betore the public just iong enough to acquire notoriety as of income of the most complete publications of the kind ever issued in this courtry. It contains tunes in many different metres and a large variety of music and hymns for various occasions - for Eunerals, Anniversaries, Fourth of July, for Temperance, Missionary and other meetings, embracing me largest number of tunes and hymns—most varied and pleasing that have ever been published in any like book to the pre en' time. A new, next and cheap edition is the published and will be sold for $3, 50 cts. per doz. Conten s -210 funes and 332 hymns, 176 pages. Small books must necessarily be very deficient in variety. Lublished at No. 8 Court Square and for sale generally. Address H. M. Day.
