

XIV. All ye whom love or fortune hath betray'd

John Dowland

Cantus
All ye whom love or for - tune hath be - tray'd,

Altus
All ye whom love or for - tune hath be-tray'd, be-

Tenor
8 All ye whom love or for - tune hath be - tray'd,

Bassus
All ye whom love or for - - tune hath be-

4
all ye that dream of bliss but live in grief, tray'd, all ye that dream of bliss but 8 all ye that dream of bliss but live in grief, in grief, all tray'd, but live in

7
all ye whose hopes are e - ver - more de - lay'd, live in grief, are e - ver-more de-8 ye whose hopes are e - ver - more, e - ver - - more de-lay'd, de - grief, ye whose hopes are e - ver - more de - lay'd,

10
all ye whose sighs, whose sighs or sick - ness wants relay'd, all ye whose sighs, all ye whose sighs or sick-ness wants re - 8 lay'd, all ye whose sighs or sick-ness wants reall ye whose sighs, whose sighs or sick-ness wants release: Lend ears and tears to me most lease: Lend ears and tears, lend ears and tears to me most lease: Lend ears and tears to me most hap - less man, most lease: Lend ears and tears, lend ears and tears, lend ears and tears to me, to me most hap - less man, that sings my sor - rows, that sings my hap - less man, that sings my sor - rows, hap - less man, that sings my sor - rows, sor - - rows, hap - less man, that sings my sor - rows, my sor -

13

16

19

sor - rows like the dy - ing swan. 1. sor - rows, my sor-rows like the dy - ing swan. Lend ears and swan. 2.
 my sor - rows like the dy - ing swan. Lend ears and swan. rows like the dy - ing swan. Lend ears and swan.

Care that consumes the heart with inward pain,
 Pain that presents sad care in outward view,
 Both tyrant-like enforce me to complain;
 But still in vain: for none my plaints will rue.
 Tears, sighs and ceaseless cries alone I spend:
 My woe wants comfort, and my sorrow end.