ARGUMENT.

The title comes from the hostilities which occur during the action of the opera, between two petty states, Genoa and Massa Carrara, caused by the fact that a favorite dancer has made simultaneous engagements at the theatres of each, the disputed question being which of the contracts the dancer shall fulfil. The "war" is not waged with great fury by the two combatants, as but one hand grenade a day is exchanged, and the contest develops into a picture of still life, which is only interrupted by the appearance in one of the camps of the pretty Countess Violetta, who, in disguise, attempts to make her way within the lines of the other city, in order to take command of the fortress. The colonel in command, Umberto, falls a victim to the deception and grants her permission to pass through the lines, but decides to take revenge by marrying her. Having heard that she is about to marry the Duke de Limburg by proxy, he arranges to represent the duke, and is safely married to the lovely Violetta without exciting her suspicion as to his real identity. He is assisted in this by Groots, a Dutch dealer in tulip bulbs, whom the soldiers have captured, thinking him a spy, and who willingly personates the absent Duke. Complications arise in the awkward matrimonial arrangement because of the presence of Groots' wife, Else, her jealousy, the antipathy of Violetta toward her supposed husband, and her affection for Umberto, all of which are resolved, by a subsequent explanation and a treaty of peace between the militants, on receipt of the intelligence that the cause of the war had taken leave of both theatres.

First system of musical notation. The piano staff (top) begins with a forte (f) dynamic, followed by a piano (pp) section, a mezzo-forte (mf) section with a triplet of eighth notes, and two sections of fortissimo (fz) with triplets. The bass staff (bottom) provides harmonic support with chords and single notes.

Allegro.

Second system of musical notation, marked Allegro. The time signature is 2/4. The piano staff (top) features fortissimo (fz) and piano (p) dynamics. The bass staff (bottom) features piano (p) dynamics. The music consists of rhythmic patterns and chords.

Third system of musical notation. The piano staff (top) continues with chords and melodic fragments. The bass staff (bottom) continues with a steady accompaniment of chords.

Fourth system of musical notation. The piano staff (top) features chords and melodic lines. The bass staff (bottom) continues with a steady accompaniment of chords.

Fifth system of musical notation. The piano staff (top) features chords and melodic lines. The bass staff (bottom) continues with a steady accompaniment of chords.

Sixth system of musical notation. The piano staff (top) features chords and melodic lines. The bass staff (bottom) continues with a steady accompaniment of chords, ending with a forte (f) dynamic.

First system of musical notation, featuring a treble and bass clef. The bass clef part begins with a dynamic marking of f. The music consists of eighth and sixteenth notes with various articulations.

Piu moto.

Second system of musical notation, starting with the tempo marking Piu moto. The treble clef part features a melodic line with slurs and accents, while the bass clef part provides harmonic support with chords and moving lines.

Third system of musical notation, continuing the piece with complex textures in both hands, including sixteenth-note passages and chordal structures.

Fourth system of musical notation, showing further development of the musical themes with intricate rhythmic patterns and dynamic contrasts.

Poco meno.

Fifth system of musical notation, beginning with the tempo marking Poco meno. This system is characterized by the use of triplets in both the treble and bass clefs, with dynamic markings of p and pp.

Andantino mosso.

Sixth system of musical notation, starting with the tempo marking Andantino mosso. The time signature changes to 3/4. The piece concludes with a rit. (ritardando) marking in the final measures.

First system of musical notation, consisting of a grand staff with treble and bass clefs. The music is in a key with two sharps (F# and C#) and a 3/4 time signature. The right hand features a complex, rhythmic melody with many beamed notes, while the left hand provides a steady accompaniment of chords and single notes.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. The right hand's melody remains intricate and rhythmic, with frequent sixteenth-note patterns. The left hand continues with a consistent accompaniment.

Third system of musical notation. The right hand's melody is highly active. The left hand has a section labeled eres (likely es), which consists of sustained chords. A fermata is placed over the end of this section.

Fourth system of musical notation. The right hand has a more melodic and flowing line. The left hand has a section labeled mf (mezzo-forte) followed by rit. (ritardando) and then pp a tempo (pianissimo at tempo). The right hand's melody concludes with a fermata.

Fifth system of musical notation. The right hand's melody is more rhythmic and syncopated. The left hand features a steady accompaniment of chords. The system ends with a double bar line and a common time signature (C).

Sixth system of musical notation, starting with the tempo marking Tempo di Marcia. Maestoso. The right hand has a melodic line with dynamic markings pp, f, pp, and f. The left hand has a rhythmic accompaniment with dynamic markings ff and ffz. The system ends with a double bar line and a common time signature (C).

First system of musical notation. The treble clef staff begins with a piano (f) dynamic and contains several triplet markings. The bass clef staff features a fortissimo (ff) dynamic. The key signature has two sharps (F# and C#).

Second system of musical notation. The treble clef staff continues with triplet markings. The bass clef staff has a more active rhythmic accompaniment.

Third system of musical notation. The treble clef staff is marked Walzer tempo. and molto rall. The time signature changes to 3/4. The bass clef staff has a piano (p) dynamic. The key signature changes to one sharp (F#).

Fourth system of musical notation. The treble clef staff is marked poco rit. and fa tempo. The time signature changes to 2/4. The bass clef staff features a steady accompaniment.

Fifth system of musical notation. The treble clef staff has a melodic line with slurs. The bass clef staff provides a harmonic accompaniment.

Sixth system of musical notation. Both the treble and bass clef staves are marked mf (mezzo-forte). The treble clef staff continues with a melodic line.

The first system of music features a treble clef staff with a melodic line of eighth notes, some beamed in pairs, and a bass clef staff with a steady accompaniment of chords. The key signature has one sharp (F#).

The second system begins with the tempo marking Allegro. in the treble staff. The music continues with eighth-note patterns in both staves. A dynamic marking of f (forte) is present in the bass staff.

The third system is marked Meno. tempo 1? in the treble staff. The tempo is slower, with a focus on eighth-note rhythms. Dynamic markings include f in the bass staff and p (piano) in the treble staff.

The fourth system continues the piece with a treble staff featuring sixteenth-note passages and a bass staff with a consistent accompaniment. A dynamic marking of p is visible at the start of the system.

The fifth system shows a treble staff with sixteenth-note runs and a bass staff with chords. The key signature changes to two sharps (F# and C#).

The sixth system concludes the page with a treble staff featuring sixteenth-note passages and a bass staff with chords. A dynamic marking of f is present in the bass staff.

The first system of music consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and contains a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, some with accents and slurs. The lower staff is in bass clef and features a rhythmic accompaniment of chords and single notes, starting with a forte (f) dynamic marking.

Piu vivo.

The second system continues the piece with a tempo change to Piu vivo. The upper staff has a more active melodic line with slurs. The lower staff has a steady accompaniment, beginning with a piano (p) dynamic.

The third system shows the continuation of the Piu vivo section. The upper staff features intricate melodic patterns with slurs. The lower staff provides harmonic support with chords and moving lines, maintaining the piano (p) dynamic.

The fourth system includes the instruction molto cresc (molto crescendo) in the middle of the system. The upper staff continues with complex melodic figures. The lower staff's accompaniment becomes more intense, reflecting the dynamic instruction.

Piu mosso.

The fifth system marks a change to Piu mosso (much more movement). The upper staff has a more direct melodic line. The lower staff features a strong accompaniment, starting with a fortissimo (ff) dynamic.

The sixth system concludes the piece. The upper staff has a final melodic phrase. The lower staff provides a strong harmonic base. The system ends with a repeat sign and a double bar line.

Detailed description of the musical score: The score is for a duet in 2/4 time. It begins with a 'Moderato' tempo. The vocal parts are for 'ELSE' and 'BALTHASAR'. The piano accompaniment is marked 'PIANO' and includes triplets and dynamic markings like 'p' and 'fp'. The lyrics are in German. The score is divided into two main sections: 'Moderato' and 'Andantino'. The 'Moderato' section contains the first three systems of music. The 'Andantino' section contains the last two systems. The piano accompaniment features various textures, including triplets and arpeggiated figures.
