

CELIA HAS A THOUSAND CHARMS.
(THE RIVAL SISTERS.)

Words by ROBERT GOULD.

HENRY PURCELL.
1695

Moderato.

Ce - lia has a thou - sand, thou - sand, thou - -

- - - - - sand charms, 'twere Heav'n 'twere Heav'n to die with -

- in her arms: While I stand

cresc.
gaz-ing on her face Some new and some re-sist-less grace Fills with fresh

cresc.

p magic all the place; While I stand gaz-ing on her face Some

p

cresc.
new and some re-sist-less grace Fills with fresh magic all

cresc.

dim. p
the place.

dim. p

Moderato.

But while the Nymph I thus a -

- dore, but while the Nymph I thus, I

thus a - dore, I should my wretch - ed, wretch - ed, wretch - ed

Fate de - plore; For Oh! Mir - til - lo, oh! Mir - til - lo, have a

cresc.
care, have a care, Her sweet - ness is — be - yond com - pare, But

cresc.

then — she's false, — she's false, but then — she's false, — she's false, as well as — fair; Have a care, have a care, have a care, Mir - til - lo, have a

p

care, Mir - til - lo, have a care, have a care, have a care, have a care.

p