A D V E R T I S E M E N T .

THE principal design of the Compiler, in issuing this work, is, to offer to the public a book that will assist them in acquiring a knowledge of the Seven Syllables in Music, without a resort to the tedious and never-ending study of the Round Note System.

The author believes that the Patent Note plan is as much better than the Round Note plan, to give an easy and correct understanding of Music, as a well-painted landscape view is to give a clear and correct idea of scenery than a meagre written description.

If the OHIO HARMONIST shall prove acceptable and useful to his fellow-citizens, the author's most ardent wishes will be attained; if otherwise, he will still have left to console him for his labors, the consciousness of having performed his duty, in endeavoring to promote and elevate the Science of Music, and increase its usefulness to his fellow men.

A. AULD.

NOTICE.—All persons are hereby warned not to use the Notes Doe, Ray, and See, without my permission, as I claim them as my property.

ALEXANDER AULD, Author.

PREFACE TO THE SECOND EDITION.

A KNOWLEDGE of vocal music is very properly considered indispensable in Divine Worship; and for that purpose it is now taught, and practiced in all classes of community.

The great number of elementary works which have recently appeared on this subject, is a pleasing evidence of the attention which has been bestowed upon it. Among these none have enjoyed a greater favor than the works of Mr. Mason; and the high rank which they still hold among the numerous works which have appeared since their publication, is a decided testimony to the soundness of their principles and the excellence of the system. With all their excellence, however, they are far from being incapable of improvement; and the attempt to add to their value as a manual for singing, by correcting what is erroneous, retrenching what is superfluous or unimportant, compressing what is prolix, elucidating what is obscure, determining what was left doubtful, supplying what is defective, and bringing up the whole to that state of improvement to which the labors of eminent, scientific, and practical musicians of the present day have so greatly contributed, can hardly fail, if well executed, to prove acceptable to the public.

Such was my design in issuing the first edition, as well as in this, and though there may be reason to regret that it has not been undertaken by some one more capable of doing justice to the subject, still it is hoped that the labor bestowed, in order to carry it into effect, will not be altogether in vain.

The author is aware that an apology will be looked for, and that the arguments on which that apology is grounded, must inevitably undergo a rigid scrutiny.

Apprehensive, however, that no explanatory effort on his part, would shield him from the imputation of arrogance, by such as are blinded by self interest, or by those who are wedded to the doctrines and opinions of his predecessors, with them he will not attempt a compromise, being, in a great measure, indifferent either to their praise or to their censure. But with the candid, he is willing to negotiate an amicable treaty, knowing that they are always ready to enter into it on honorable terms. In this negotiation he asks nothing more than merely to rest the merits of his work on its practical utility, in teaching the science of music, believing that, if it proves uncommonly successful in facilitating the progress of youth in the march of vocal improvement, that will be its best apology.

The author also ventures forward, under the conviction that most of his predecessors are very deficient, particularly in manner, and this conviction, he believes, will be corroborated by a majority of the best judges in community.

In endeavoring to simplify and render this subject intelligible to the young learner, they have all overlooked what he considers a very important object, namely, a correct manner of representing musical sounds; they have represented them in such a way that it is almost impossible to get a knowledge of their nature and application. To those who still hold on to the plan of indicating the seven musical sounds, with one, and only one character, the author can say, that if a person were to represent the sounds of the twenty-six letters of the alphabet, by one single character placed in different positions, he would at once be scoffed at, for having increased the labor and perplexed the mind of the learner, when it could be of no advantage whatever; and in fact it would be impossible to gain an accurate knowledge of words by their representatives. In the same manner we may reason with regard to the musical alphabet, for no difference whatever exists, only in one having a greater number of sounds than the other. Then represent each sound by a distinct figure, and thereby acquire a knowledge of the seven syllables in music, without resorting to the tedious and never ending study of the round note system. For by indicating each note by a distinct figure, more knowledge may be obtained in five minutes than can be got from the round notes in three months: I might say for three years, as in many instances it is strictly true to almost any extent; for it is actually the case that persons may study the round note system for a lifetime and then not be qualified to read the notes correctly; much less to sing; whereas if each note be represented by a distinct figure, the reading of notes may be acquired accurately in a few minutes. By some this system will, no doubt, be discarded on account of its simplicity, whilst to others its simplicity will prove its principal recommendation. Its design is an humble one: as it proffers no glaring appearances to dazzle and perplex the mind. It professes not to instruct by a glittering display of complex arrangement; it presents no intricate style, the better calculated to enable those favored with a superficial knowledge of it, to be continually fattening off the public and giving nothing in return; it presents no daring flights to astonish, no deep researches to gratify; but in the humblest simplicity of diction, it attempts to accelerate the march of the juvenile mind in its advances in the path of a musical science, by dispersing those clouds that have heretofore bewildered it, and removing those obstacles that generally retard its progress. In this way it endeavors to render interesting and delightful a study which has hitherto been cloaked in darkness and thereby made tedious, dry, and irksome.

Its leading object is to adopt a correct and easy method, in which pleasure is blended with the labors of the learner, and thus mingle delight with practical utility. Content to be useful, instead of being brilliant, the author has endeavored to shun the path of those whose aim appears to have been to dazzle, rather than to instruct. As he has aimed not so much at originality, as utility, he has adopted tunes of his predecessors whose labors have become public stock, whenever he could not, in his opinion, furnish better and brighter of his own. And has also taken great pains, in selecting the most popular tunes of the day; and a great number of the tunes have been written expressly for this work (with a few of his own compositions).

The author thinks this, together with the manner of representing each sound by a distinct character (which he claims as entirely original) is sufficient to recommend the work in point of originality. And the author believes that the Patent Note plan, or that of representing each sound by a distinct figure, is as much better than the round note plan, to give an easy and correct understanding of music, as a well painted landscape view is better, to give a clear and correct idea of scenery, than a meagre written description; or as the substance is to be preferred to the shadow. If the OHIO HARMONIST. SECOND EDITION, shall prove likewise acceptable and useful to his fellow citizens, the author's most ardent wishes will still be attained; if otherwise, he will still have left to console him for his labors, the consciousness of having performed his duty, in endeavoring to promote and elevate the science of Music, and increase its usefulness to his fellow men.

The work is now committed to the judgment of an intelligent public, in the hope that something has been done to smooth the path of the musical student in the successful prosecution of his studies.

ALEXANDER AULD.

A CONCISE INTRODUCTION TO MUSIC.

To assist the ideas of the learner, and lessen the labor of the tutor, the following summary of the first principles of Vocal Music has been compiled, and pains have been taken to render the subject as easy and comprehensible as possible.

CHAPTER I.

CHARACTERS USED IN MUSIC.

THE STAFF.

1. The staff consists of five parallel lines with their intermediate spaces, on which musical characters are written.

EXAMPLE.

LINES.	SPACES.	LINES AND SPACES.
5		9	Fifth line.
	4	8	Fourth space.
4		7	Fourth line.
	3	6	Third space.
3		5	Third line.
	2	4	Second space.
2		3	Second line.
	1	2	First space.
1		1	First line.

2. Musical sounds are represented by characters called notes, which are written and named thus: D do, (doe;) R re, (ray;) M mi, (mee;) F fa, (faw;) S sol, (sole;) L la, (law;) Si , (see.)

3. A succession of eight notes placed upon the staff forms what is called, the Scale, which is the foundation of all melody, and from which all musical compositions are derived.

EXAMPLE.

A musical staff with a treble clef. The notes are: 1. D (do) on the first line, 2. R (re) on the first space, 3. M (mi) on the second line, 4. F (fa) on the second space, 5. S (sol) on the third line, 6. L (la) on the third space, 7. Si (see) on the fourth line, 8. D (do) on the fourth space. The notes are numbered 1 through 8 above the staff. Below the staff, there are six numbered positions (1-6) with various musical symbols like clefs and accidentals.

4. When notes extend above or below the staff, leger lines are added; in which case, the 8th of the first scale becomes the 1st of a new scale.

5. The lines and spaces of the staff are named by the first seven letters of the alphabet, in connection with the clefs, of which two are in general use.

BASE CLEFF.

A musical staff with a C-clef (base clef) on the first line. The notes G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G, A are written on the staff, with G on the first line and A on the first space.

TENOR OR TREBLE CLEFF.

A musical staff with a G-clef (tenor or treble clef) on the second line. The notes C, D, E, F, G, A, B, C, D, E, F, G are written on the staff, with C on the first space and G on the second line.

6. The Cleff shows the situation of the letters on the staff. The G Cleff, so called because placed on G, is used for tenor and treble; and shows the situation of the letters on these staffs.

The F cleff, so called because placed on F, represents the base; and shows how the letters stand on that staff.

INTRODUCTION TO MUSIC

THE SCALE SHOWING THE INTERVALS, LETTERS, &c., ON THE TWO CLEFFS.

The diagram shows a diatonic major scale on two cleffs. The notes are labeled with letters and solfège names. Intervals between notes are indicated as 'Tone' or 'Half tone'. The scale is numbered 1 to 8 for both ascending and descending directions.

Do.	Re.	Mi.	Fa.	Sol.	La.	Si.	Do.	Do.	Si.	La.	Sol.	Fa.	Mi.	Re.	Do.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	8	7	6	5	4	3	2	1

7. The distances which the voice observes in ascending and descending the scale, are called Intervals or steps.

8. The above scale is called Diatonic (Major,) Scale, and commences with C.

9. The intervals or steps in the scale are as follows, viz: from 1 to 2, is a tone; 2 to 3, a tone; from 3 to 4, a half tone; 4 to 5, a tone; 5 to 6, a tone; 6 to 7, a tone; 7 to 8, a half tone.

Five whole tones and two half, or semitones.

10. The order of intervals must be the same in every Diatonic Major Scale, as represented in the preceding example. Otherwise the scale will be imperfect.

11. The last note of the base is always the Key note, or predominant tone, on which the tune is pitched. If it be Do, the tune is in the Major Scale; if La, it is in the Minor.

12. We have already said that musical sounds were represented by characters called notes; that is, notes show the length and order of sounds.

13. Six kinds of notes are generally used, viz:

Semibreve. or whole note.	Minim, or half note.	Crotchet, or quarter note.	Quaver, or eighth note.	Semiquaver, or sixteenth note.	Demisemiquaver, or thirty-second note.
1	$\frac{1}{2}$	$\frac{1}{4}$	$\frac{1}{8}$	$\frac{1}{16}$	$\frac{1}{32}$
Open head.	Open head and stem.	Closed head and stem.	Head, stem, and one hook.	Head, stem and two hooks.	Head, stem, and three hooks.

14. Each note represents a distinct musical sound. The sounds represented by the foregoing notes are to be of different lengths; as the names of the notes indicate. For example, the whole note represents a long sound. The half note a sound half as long as the whole note. The quarter note, a sound one quarter as long as the whole note, &c.

15. Characters indicating silence, are called

RESTS.

Whole Rest.	Half Rest.	Quarter Rest.	Eighth Rest.	Sixteenth Rest.	Thirty-second Rest.
Under a line.	Over a line.	Turned to the right.	Turned to the left.	Two hooks.	Three hooks.

16. The time given to a Rest, should correspond with the note whose name it bears.

17. Single Bars divide the staff into equal measures, to regulate time.

18. A Double Bar shows the end of a strain.

19. A Brace connects the parts sung, together.

SINGLE BARS.

DOUBLE BAR.

BRACE.

20. The Repeat shows the following strain is to be sung twice. When placed to the left of a Double Bar it shows that the preceding strain is to be repeated.

21. The Slur connects notes that are to be sung together.

22. The figures 1, 2, at the end of a repeated strain, show that the note under 1 is to be sung the first time, and that under 2, the second time; but if connected by a slur, both are to be sung the second time.

23. A Dot placed after a note, adds to it half of its length.

24. A Hold placed over a note, shows that it is to be sounded about one-third longer than usual, and when placed over a bar denotes a short suspension of voice.

25. Figure 3, placed over or under three notes, reduces their time to that of two.

26. Choosing notes are placed in a direct line, one above another, and denote that either may be sung.

27. Syncopated notes, are notes that commence on an unaccented, and continue on an accented part of the measure.

28. Staccato Marks are placed over or under such notes as are performed in a short and distinct manner.

29. Apogiture, is a small note which takes its time from the note following. It occurs on an accented part of the measure.

30. An After note, is a small note which takes its time from the note preceding. It occurs on an unaccented part of the measure.

31. The Prisa shows, the last foregoing word or words, are to be repeated.

CHAPTER II.

TIME AND ITS CHARACTERS.

- 32. Time in music, relates to the measure and movement of tunes.
- 33. There are three kinds of measure; 1st, Common, which has three varieties; 2d, Triple, which has likewise three; 3d, Compound, which has two varieties.
- 34. In Common time, the measure consists of two equal parts. In Triple, the measure consists of three equal parts. Compound time is Common and Triple united; the measure consists of two equal parts, and each part is three fold.

35. The figure 2 placed over a 2, represents the first variety of Common time, which has a Semibreve, or its quantity, four seconds of time, one accent, and two beats to each measure.

The accent falls upon the first part of the measure, or downward beat.

36. The figure 4 placed over a 4, represents the Second variety, and has the same measure note, but is accented on the first and third part of the measure, or downward and right hand beat, and also takes four seconds of time to a measure.

37. The figure 2 placed over a 4, represents the Third variety, which has one Minim, or its quantity; one accent, which falls upon the first part, and two beats to the measure, and is sung in two seconds of time to a measure.

38. The figure 3 placed over a 2, represents the First variety of Triple time, which has the amount of a dotted Semibreve in a measure, with a full accent on the first part, and a slight one on the third, three beats, and about three seconds of time to a measure.

39. The figure 3 placed over a 4, represents the Second variety which has a dotted Minim, or its quantity, and three beats to the measure. It is accented as the first variety, and sung somewhat quicker.

40. The figure 3 placed over an 8, represents the Third variety, which has a dotted Crotchet, or its quantity, and three beats to the measure. It is accented, as the preceding, and sung quicker.

41. The figure 6 placed over a 4, represents the First variety of Compound time, which has six Crotchets, or their quantity; two accents, one on the first part and one on the fourth; two beats and two seconds of time to the measure.

42. The figure 6 placed over an 8, represents the Second variety, which has six quavers, or their quantity to the measure. It is accented, beat, and sung as the first variety, only quicker.

CHAPTER III.

TRANSPOSITION BY FLATS AND SHARPS.

43. To determine the key of a tune, find the last note of the base, and if the third above contains four semitones, it is Major; if but three it is Minor.

There are, in reality, but two keys in music: the Major, or sharp key, and the Minor, or flat key; but to bring all airs as much as possible within the compass of the staff, each letter of the seven is made a key note, which is done by transposition, as exemplified by the following plate.

The semitones are always between the third, fourth, seventh, and eighth, from the key note, in the Major Mode; and between the second, third, fifth and sixth, in the Minor Mode

TRANSPPOSITIONS PROVED MATHEMATICALLY.

44. The two staves are a practical explanation of the scale to all the seven letters sharpened or flatted. The upper staff shows the place of the Si or Mi,* and the lower, or Base staff, the key notes. The upper note is the Major or sharp key, and the lower one, the Minor or flat key.—Table annexed to this scale at the right hand proves the twelve semitones in an octave.

*In the seven syllables Si is the governing note, and in the four syllables Mi is the governing note; therefore, Si and Mi are placed on the same letter in the scale of transposition.

The large letters at the top of each column are the major letters or keys, and those at the bottom are the minor letters or keys; the letters in the column, on the left of the notes in the perpendicular lines, represent the lines and spaces of the two staves below; the two staves show how the key notes, both major and minor, are placed in every change of key, which change is made by the use of sharps and flats; and also the situation and location of the note κ . When transposed you will now notice that do D (major key) is on the first degree above κ in every scale, and \square , the minor key, is on the first degree below κ . Now if neither sharps or flats are placed at the beginning of a tune, κ is on B natural, D on C, and \square on A. Consequently the first column is the natural, or diatonic scale. Now in order to have G for the major, and E for the minor, we have sharp F \sharp , to change the semitone between E and F natural, to F \sharp and G, in the second column; in this case you perceive that F \sharp is raised one half tone which makes a full tone between E natural and F \sharp . Now notice, that all the notes in the second column are moved, in consequence of F being sharp, which draws the note κ to F \sharp , and D to G; you will likewise see that the semitone between B and C remains unmoved in the second column, only we have \diamond and \triangle , instead of κ and D, as in the first column. But now we will separate B and C by placing the second \sharp sharp on C, and thereby elevate C a half tone up to D, and draw the note κ to the letter C. Consequently the semitones are between C \sharp and D, F \sharp and G. Now it is easy seen that F \sharp destroys the natural semitone between E and F natural, and C \sharp destroys the semitone between B and C natural; consequently both of the natural semitones are now removed by introducing the second \sharp . Now how are we to go any farther? Why, we will put a \sharp on G, five degrees above C \sharp , which will raise G a half tone above F \sharp , and make the half tone between G \sharp and A, third column, which brings κ on G \sharp , and D on A. The semitones in this scale are between G \sharp and A, and C \sharp and D, and the fourth \sharp , on D, will destroy the semitone now existing between C \sharp and D, and so on until the whole seven are through; then let it be understood that the \sharp draws the note κ in all cases, but the flats drives κ as we shall now explain.

We now come to the natural scale, or column, to the right of the double || lines; in this first column we find κ on B again; consequently we must flat B for two reasons: 1st, is because that κ in the natural scale is on B; 2d, is because that B is only a half tone below C, then it is that B must be flat to make a whole tone between B and C, which puts the semitone between A and B \flat , and leave the semitone between E and F remain, which is first removed by F \sharp ; therefore by this you can see, that F \sharp separates

E and F's semitone, and B \flat separates B and C's semitone. Then it is, when B \flat is flat, that κ is on E and D on F; consequently the semitones in this scale are between A and B \flat , and E and F. Now then we are going to separate E and F by placing the 2d flat on E, and why on E; because κ is driven to E by B \flat , and E must be sunk one half tone to make a whole tone between E and F, in which case κ will be driven to A, and the semitones will be between A and B \flat , and D and E \flat , which disannuls the natural semitones between E and F. Now we must change the semitone from A and B \flat by placing the 3d flat on A, in which case κ will be on D, D on E; then the semitones will be between G and A \flat , and D and E \flat , and so on until all the letters are flatted.

We think by the learner committing to memory the above explanations, that he will be able to comprehend all that is necessary for a common singer to know. We could write 20 pages more on this point, and then would not be scarcely begun; and all though it is a deep and tedious subject, we think the above sufficient at present.

We shall now proceed to explain some of the principles of melody.

ARTICLE FIRST, MELODY.

A particular or an agreeable succession of sounds forms a melody or tune, thus:

By degrees.

By skips.

NOTE.—The degrees and skips of melody are both called by the general term interval; which is the distance between two sounds, or their differences in respect to pitch: every interval therefore implies two sounds; one acute, the other grave; in common language high and low; and as in measuring, it is usual to count the distance more than the space contained; so, in music, the notes which limit the interval, are both called by the name of the interval itself. Thus from F to C is contained the interval of a fifth, both terms inclusive, and C is a fifth above F, and F is a fifth below C.

ARTICLE THIRD, MINOR SECOND.

The minor second is formed by two sounds, at the distance of a diatonic semitone, as B, C, and E, F. C is a minor second above B, and F is a minor second above E: let it be understood then, that the minor second contains two degrees, both terms inclusive, thus:

It is also found in the other scales, between F# and G, C# and D, Bb and A, Eb and D, &c.

NOTE.—From this statement the nature of melody when sharps and flats are employed, may be readily perceived; for after a sharp the part rises, and after a flat the part falls.

NOTE.—You must sing all those notes until you have them perfect. These tones are divided into semitones by transposition, thus: *

ARTICLE FOURTH, MAJOR SECOND.

The major second is a tone composed of two degrees, thus:

NOTE.—The above scale proves the twelve semitones contained in an octave, by dividing the five whole tones by sharps, which make ten, and the two natural semitones, between \diamond and \triangle , ∇ and \square , which make twelve in all.

ARTICLE FIFTH, MINOR THIRD.

The minor third is composed of three degrees, and contains a tone and diatonic semitone between the two extremes, thus:

ARTICLE FIFTH, MAJOR THIRD.

The major third is composed of three degrees, and contains two tones between the extremes, thus:

ARTICLE SIXTH, THE PERFECT FOURTH.

The perfect fourth is composed of four degrees, and contains two tones and a semitone between the extremes, thus:

ARTICLE SEVENTH, SHARP FOURTH.

The sharp fourth is composed of four degrees, and contains three tones, between the extremes, called by the ancients on that account tritone, thus:

NOTE.—This sharp fourth differs from the perfect fourth, one semitone, viz. three tones in sharp fourth and but two and a half tones in perfect fourth.

ARTICLE EIGHTH, FLAT FIFTH.

The flat fifth is composed of five degrees, and contains two tones and two semitones, (not three tones,) thus:

NOTE.—The flat fifth is like the sharp fourth, (or tritone) divisible into six semitones.

ARTICLE NINTH, PERFECT FIFTH.

The perfect fifth is composed of five degrees, three tones, and one semitone, thus:

NOTE.—This fifth contains a major and minor third, viz. from D to \diamond is major third, but from \diamond to \circ is minor third, as shown above.

ARTICLE TENTH, MINOR SIXTH.

The minor sixth is composed of six degrees, and contains three tones and two semitones, thus:

NOTE.—The above contains a minor third, and a perfect fourth, to which add the major third, completes the octave.

ARTICLE ELEVENTH, MAJOR SIXTH.

The major sixth is composed of six degrees, and contains four tones and one semitone, thus:

NOTE.—The above contains a perfect fourth, and major third, to which add the minor third, completes the octave.

ARTICLE TWELFTH, MINOR SEVENTH.

The minor seventh is composed of seven degrees, and contains four tones and two semitones, containing a perfect fifth and minor third, thus:

NOTE.—And by adding the major second, completes the octave.

ARTICLE THIRTEENTH, MAJOR SEVENTH.

The major seventh is composed of seven degrees, and contains five tones and a half, and may be divided into a perfect fifth, and a major third, thus:

NOTE.—Add to the above a minor second, and the octave is completed.

ARTICLE FOURTEENTH, OCTAVE.

The octave is composed of eight degrees, and contains five tones and two semitones; or a perfect fifth and fourth united completes the octave, thus:

ARTICLE FIFTEENTH, INVERSION OF INTERVALS.

When the lower note of any interval is placed an octave higher, or the highest note an octave lower, the change thereby produced is called inversion of notes or intervals,

It will be understood then by the above, that by inversion, all the major intervals become minor, and all the minor become major, the sharp fourth becomes the flat fifth, and the unison inverted becomes the octave, and also the major seventh of the key, from its resemblance to the tritone (its highest note being one of the two sounds which form the sharp fourth) is sometimes called the sharp seventh, and is a sharp seventh when F is sharp, thus: and this note is the highest note of the tritone, or sharp fourth, as illustrated in article seventh.

NOTE.—Of all the diatonic intervals, the third, viz. the major thirds and minor thirds are by far the most important, and ought to be very perfectly understood; since upon them depends the nature of the scale or mode; and the thirds give their own epithets to the whole series of the seven notes, the scale itself being called major when the third is greater, and minor when the third is lesser. It may be observed, that the alteration of the thirds, by sharpening the upper note of the minor, or flattening that of the major, does not change their diatonic nature.

And now, gentle reader, I would suggest to you the propriety of going back at least to the mathematical scale, and go over and over it until you understand it as near perfect as can be; and likewise those few remarks on the subject of melody, which will much assist you in making the right tone or sound in their various ways in which they are placed, in which you can hardly go wrong if you try; when once you understand the principles laid down in the fifteen preceding articles on melody, remembering to sing the examples up and down, in order to distinguish the tones from the semitones, major thirds from minor thirds, fourths from fifths, &c., and when you learn this well, we will allow you to go at singing as soon as we make you acquainted with the time and accent, which we will now try to make plain, after we show you what are marks of repeats, slurs, double bars, holds, triplets, &c.

ARTICLE FIRST, DOUBLE BAR.

A double bar stands at the end of a strain.

Life is the time to serve the Lord. denotes a short silence at such places.

* This character is called the hold, and adds to the note or rest it is placed over about a quarter more time, when over a bar or between two notes it

ARTICLE SECOND, REPEATS.

A repeat is a dot in each space of the staff, thus: and when on the left of the double bar, you repeat on the left; and when on the right, repeat to the right.

ARTICLE THIRD, SLURS.

The Slur  connects or covers such notes as are to be sung to one syllable; quavers &c. are grouped together by the hooks on the end of their stems, thus:

How fair a face, be - dewed with tears!

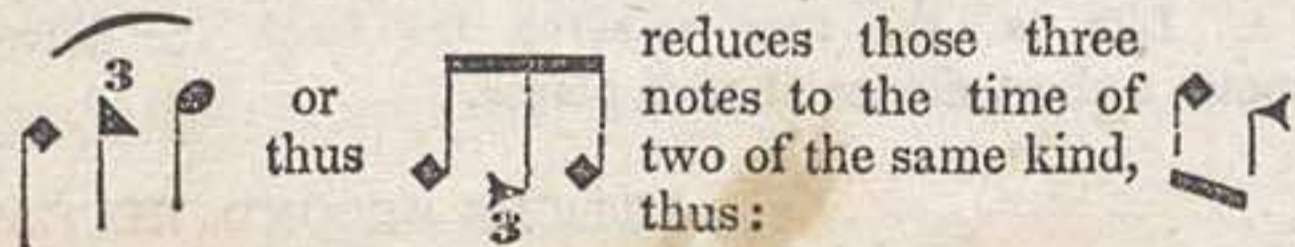

What beau - ty e'en in grief ap-pears.

NOTE.—It will be seen by the above example, that the quavers &c. are slurred when they have to be taken in with other notes, beside being grouped, thus:

ARTICLE FOURTH, TRIPLETS.

The triplet or triplets consist in a figure 3 being placed over or under three notes of any denomination, thus:

reduces those three notes to the time of two of the same kind, thus:

or thus:  This is done to get three sounds in place of two in the same time, or without losing time in the performance, thus:

He wept, he bled, he died for you;
What more, ye saints, could Je - - - sus do.

NOTE.—This  mark at the end of the above, is called a Close, and shows the ending of every piece of music. Now sing this over and over until you understand its meaning; the figures $\frac{3}{4}$ mean three beats to the measure. Those two examples above can be separate, or as one tune. After learning the notes, sing the lines.

We will now say something more about Time and Accent, in order to remind you of this most important part of music.

ARTICLE FIRST, ACCENT.

Accent is a greater stress $\frac{2}{2}$ time, the accent of voice on one part of the $\frac{2}{2}$ and $\frac{2}{4}$ falls on the first part of the measure than the other, in $\frac{2}{2}$ and $\frac{2}{4}$ of the measure. In $\frac{4}{4}$ and $\frac{8}{8}$ time, the accent falls on the first and third. In $\frac{3}{2}$, $\frac{3}{4}$, and $\frac{3}{8}$, the accent falls on the first part of the measure. In $\frac{6}{4}$ and $\frac{6}{8}$ time, the accent falls on the first and fourth parts of the measure.

ARTICLE SECOND, TIME.

To aid in the computation and accurate division of time, certain motions of the hand are made, this is called beating time

NOTE.—Every person learning to sing should give strict attention to beating time. Experience proves that where the habit of beating time is neglected, the ability to keep time is seldom acquired.

ARTICLE THIRD, DOUBLE MEASURE IN COMMON TIME.

Double measure in common time, $\frac{2}{2}$ and $\frac{2}{4}$ has two beats: first, down; second, up.

Quadruple time, $\frac{4}{4}$ and $\frac{8}{8}$ (called common time by some authors,) has four beats: first, down; second, left; third, right; fourth, up; accented on the first and third parts of the measure.

ARTICLE FOURTH, TRIPLE TIME.

Triple time, $\frac{3}{2}$, $\frac{3}{4}$ and $\frac{3}{8}$ has three beats: first, down; second, left; third, up. Accented on the first part of the measure.

ARTICLE FIFTH, COMPOUND TIME.

Sextuple, or compound time, $\frac{6}{4}$ and $\frac{6}{8}$ has six beats: so says Mr. Mason and others, thus: first, downward; second, do.; third, hither; fourth, thither; fifth, upward; sixth, do.

NOTE.—This way of beating compound time is very difficult for me to do I must confess, and I never have seen any person that could correctly; yet it may be done by a great deal of practice. I can keep four beats with one hand, and two with the other at the same time, which would make six; but I can't perform it with one hand, therefore I perform compound time with two beats. Accent on the first and fourth parts of the measure.

We will now make you acquainted with the major and minor scales.

SOMERVILLE. C. M.

35

1. When I can read my ti - tle clear, To man - sions in the skies; I'll bid farewell to ev' - ry fear, And wipe my weeping eyes.

3. Let cares like a wild del - uge come, And storms of sor - row fall; So I but safe - ly reach my home, My God, my heav'n, my all:

2. Should earth against my soul en - gage, And hell - ish darts be hurl'd, Then I can smile at Sa - tan's rage, And face a frowning world.

4. There shall I bathe my wea - ry soul, In seas of heav'nly rest, And not a wave of trou - ble roll, A - cross my peaceful breast.

DEVOTION. C. M. (Double.)

1. My span of life will soon be done, The passing mo - ments say; As length'ning shadows o'er the mead, Proclaim the close of day.

2. Cour-age, my soul, thy bit-ter cross In ev' - ry tri al here, Shall bear thee to thy heav'n a - bove, But shall not en - ter there.

3. Soon will the toil-some strife be o'er, Of sub - lu - na - ry care, And life's dull van-i - ties no more This anx - ious breast en - snare.

O that my heart might dwell a - loof, From all cre - a - ted things; And learn that wis - dom from a - bove, Whence true content - ment springs.

The sighing ones that humbly seek, In sorrow - ing paths below, Shall in e - ter - ni - ty re - joice, Where end - less comforts flow.

Courage, my soul, on God re - ly, De - liv'rance soon will come; A thousand ways has Provi - dence To bring be - liev - ers home.

UNITY. C. M

1. How sweet, how heav' - nly is the sight, When those that love the Lord,
In one an - oth - er's peace delight, And thus ful - fil his word.

2. When each can feel his broth - er's sigh, And with him bear a part;
3. When free from en - vy, scorn and pride, Our wish - es all a - bove,
Each can his brother's fail - ings hide, And show a brother's love. When love in one de - light - ful stream, Through ev' - ry bo - som flows,

When sor - row flows from eye to eye, And joy from heart to heart, And joy from heart to heart.

And u - nion sweet, and dear es - teem, In eve - ry ac - tion glows, In ev' - ry ac - tion glows.

SOLEMN. PIA.

1. Hear what the voice from heav'n proclaims, For all the pi - ous dead, For all the pi - ous dead; Sweet is the savor of their names,

And soft their sleeping bed, And soft, And soft, And soft their sleep - ing bed.

II.

They die in Jesus, and are blessed,
How kind their slumbers are!
From suffering and from sin released,
And freed from every care.

III.

Far from this world of toil and strife,
They're present with the Lord;
The labors of their mortal life
End in a large reward.

 Through the world's wide wave direct us,
 Heav'n's the haven that we seek,
 Heaven's the haven, &c.

MISSION SONG. 8s, 7s, & 6s.

Arranged from Spiritual Songs. 45

1. Watch - men, on - ward to your stations, Blow the trum - pet long and loud, See! the day is break - ing;
 Preach the gos - pel to the nations, Speak to ev' - ry gath' - ring crowd:

f See the saints a - wa - king, m No more in sadness bow'd, p No more in sad - ness bow'd.

II.
 Watchmen, hail the rising glory,
 Of the great Messiah's reign,
 Tell the Saviour's bleeding story,
 Tell it to the listening train,
 See his love revealing;
 See the Spirit sealing;
 'Tis life among the slain!

III
 Watchmen, as the clouds are flying,
 As the doves in haste return,
 Thousands from amid the dying,
 Flee to Christ, his love to learn:
 All their sighs and sadness,
 Turn to joy and gladness,
 When they his grace discern.

1. Come a - way to the skies, My be - lo - ved a - rise, And re - joice in the day thou wast born, On this fes - ti - val day,

3. With sing - ing we praise The o - rig - i - nal grace, By our heav'nly fath - er be - stow - ed, Our be - ing re - ceive

7. Halle - lu - jah we sing Unto Je - sus our King, In the praise of his won - der - ful love; 'To the Lamb that was slain,

3. Up to that world of light
Where kindred spirits dwell,
4. Soon shall we meet again,
Our hearts will then repose,

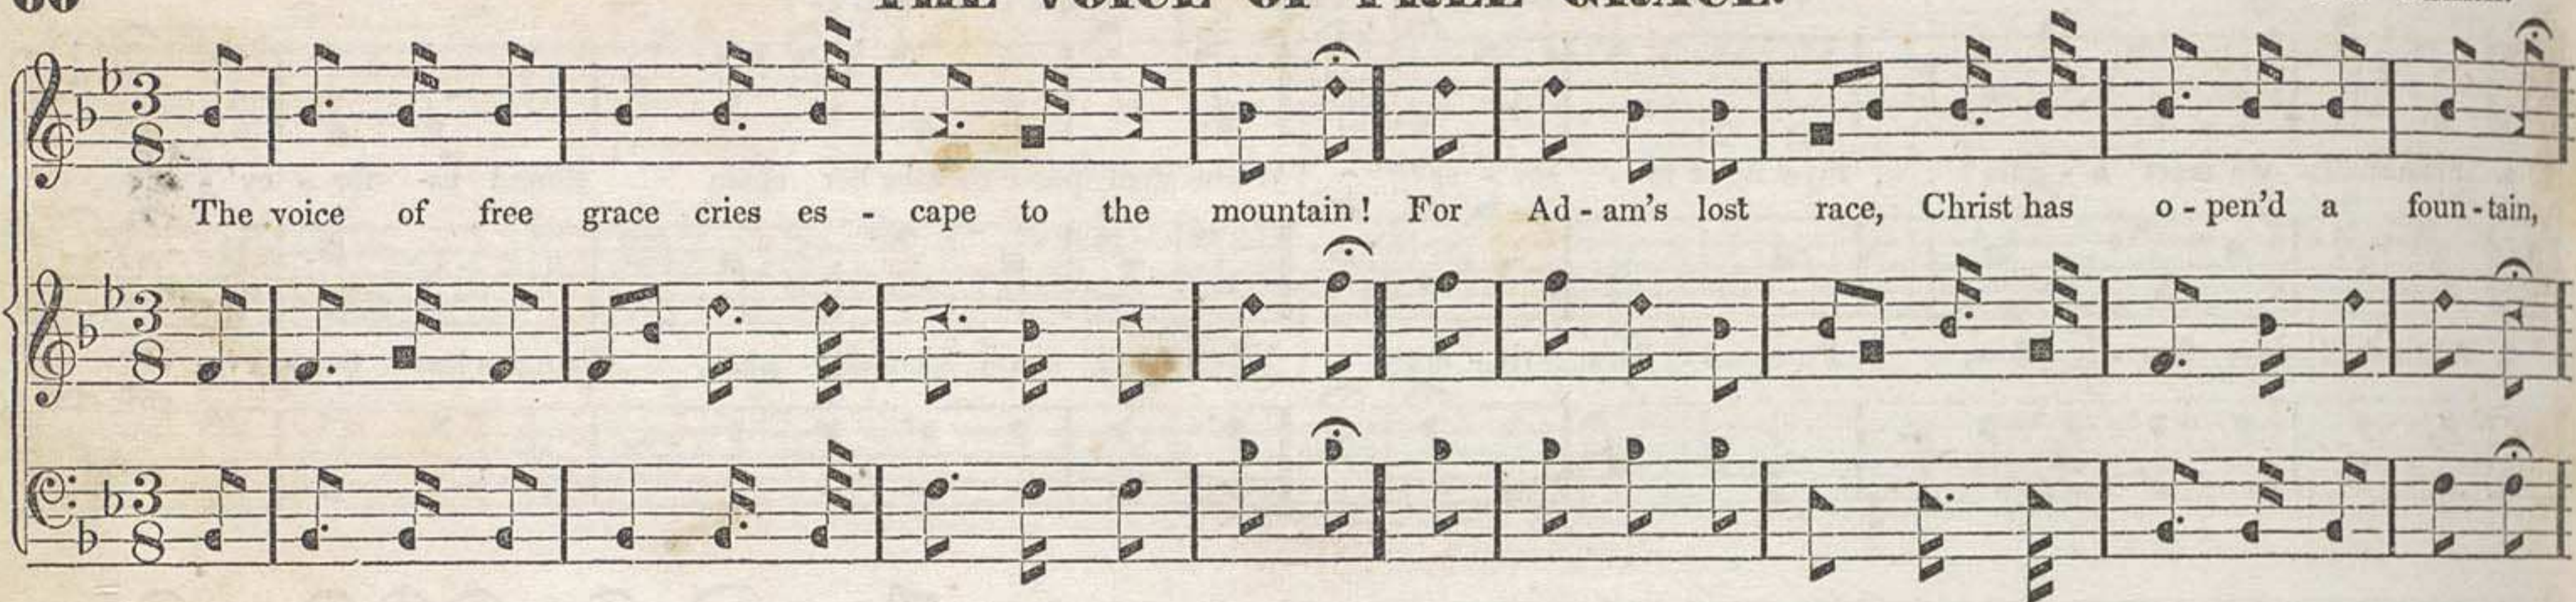

Take us, dear Saviour;
There may our music swell,
Meet ne'er to sever;
Secure from worldly woes;

May we all there unite
And time our joys dispel
Soon will peace wreathe her chain,
Our songs of praise shall close,

Happy forever!
Never, no never.
Round us forever;
Never, no, never.

'THE VOICE OF FREE GRACE.'

DR. CLARK.

*The air of this tune was sent to the United States by the Rev. J. Wilson, of Allahabad, and was harmonized by the kind services of Mr. D. Church, of New York. This air, like Hindu music generally, is of rather a monotonous character, but it will be perhaps interesting to many of our singers, because it shows in part, the kind of music with which the worship of the true God is performed by some of those who were lately singing the praise of idols.

NOTE.—In singing the English words to this tune, slurs must be used.

'HAIL THE BLEST MORN.'

1. Hail, the blest morn! see the great Me - di - a - tor Down from the re - gions of glo - ry de - scend! Cold on his cra - dle the Shep - herds, go wor - ship the babe in the man - ger, Lo! for his guard the bright an - gels at - tend,

An - gels a - dore him, in slum - ber re - cli - ning; Wise men and shep - herds be - fore him do fall.

2. Say, shall we yield him in costly devotion,
Odors of Eden, and offerings divine,
Gems from the mountain, and pearls from the ocean,
Myrrh from the forest, and gold from the mine?
Vainly we offer each ample oblation,
Vainly with gold we his favor secure;
Richer by far is the heart's adoration;
Dearer to God are the prayers of the poor.

3. Low at his feet, we in humble prostration,
Lose all our sorrow, and trouble, and strife;
There we receive his divine consolation,
Flowing afresh from the Fountain of Life.

CHORUS.

Brightest and best of the sons of the morning,
Dawn on our darkness and lend us thine aid;
Star in the east, the horizon adorning,
Guide where our infant Redeemer was laid

1. Hark, ten thousand harps and voices, Sound the note of praise above! Je - sus reigns and heav'n re . joi - ces:

4. Sa - viour has - ten thine ap - pear - ing; Bring, oh bring the glo - rious day, When the aw - ful sum - mons hear - ing,

Je - sus reigns, the God of love: See, he sits on yon - der throne; Je - sus rules the world a - lone.

Heav'n and earth shall pass a - way; Then with gol - den harps we'll sing, Glo - ry, glo - ry to our king.

VISTA. 7s or 8s & 7s. (Double.)

1. Christ the Lord is ris'n to - - day, Our tri - - - um - phant ho - ly day; }
 He en - dur'd the cross and grave, Sin - ners to re - deem and save. } Lo! he ri - ses, migh - ty King! Where, O death! now is thy sting?
 Lo! he claims his na - tive sky! Grave! where is thy vic - - to - - - - ry?

THE GEM. 7s or 8s & 7s. (Double.)

Wake the song of ju - - bi - - - lee, Let it e - - cho o'er the sea! }
 Now is come, the prom - is'd hour, Je - sus reigns with sov - reign pow'r, } All ye nations join and sing, Lord of lords, and King of kings.
 Let it sound from shore to shore; Je - sus reigns for - ev - er more. }
 Now the de - - sert lands re - - - joice, And the is - lands join their voice, }
 Yea the whole cre - - a - tion sings, Je - - sus is the King of kings, } Wake the song of ju - bi - lee, Let it e - cho o'er the sea.

WILMOT. 8s & 7s, or 7s.

1. Lo! the Lord Je - ho - vah liv - eth! He's my rock, I bless his name; He, my God, sal - va - tion giv - eth; All ye lands ex - alt his name.

2. God, Mes - si - ah's cause maintain - ing, Shall his righteous throne ex - tend: O'er the world the Sa - viour reigning, Earth shall at his foot - stool bend.

ROSEFIELD. 7s, or 8s & 7s. 6 lines.

1. From the cross up - lift - ed high, Where the Sa - viour deigns to die,
What me - lodious sounds we hear, Bursting on the ravish'd ear!
Love's re - deem - ing work is done, Come, and welcome, sin - ner, come.

Plaintive, with expression.

1. A mourning class, a va - cant seat, Tell us that one we loved to meet Will join our youth - ful thron'g no more,

Till all these chang - ing scenes are o'er, Till all these chang-ing scenes are o'er.

2. No more that voice we loved to hear
Shall fill his teacher's listening ear;
No more its tones shall join to swell
The songs that of a Saviour tell.

3. God tells us, by this mournful death,
How vain and fleeting is our breath,
And bids our souls prepare to meet
The trial of his judgment seat.

1. A - rise ! A - rise ! with joy sur - vey The glo - ry of the lat - ter day ! Al - rea - dy has the dawn be - gun Which marks at hand a rising sun, Which marks at hand a ris - ing sun.

2. Auspicious dawn thy rising ray,
With joy we view and hail the day ;
Great Sun of Righteousness arise,
And fill the world with glad surprise.

To Father, Son, and Holy Ghost,
The God whom earth and heaven adore,
Be glory, as it was of old,
Is now, and shall be evermore.

FARNSWORTH. L. M. Or 6 Lines, by repeating the first two strains.

79

Moderato.

1. My heart is fixed on thee, my God, Thy sacred truth I'll spread abroad ; My soul shall rest on thee a-lone, And make thy lov-ing kindness known.

2. A-wake my glo-ry, wake my lyre, To songs of praise my tongue inspire ; With morning's earliest dawn arise And swell your music to the skies.

MERCER. L. M.

Rather animated and bold.

1. There is a stream whose gentle flow Supplies the ci-ty of our God ; Life love and joy still glid-ing there, And wat'ring our di-vine a - bode.

2. That sacred stream, thine holy word, Sup-ports our faith, our fear controls ; Sweet peace thy promises afford, And give new strength to fainting souls.

From all created things,
And learn that wisdom from above
Whence true contentment springs!
3. Courage, my soul, thy bitter cross,
In every trial here,
Shall bear thee to thy heaven above,
But shall not enter there.
4. The sighing ones that humbly seek
In sorrowing paths below,
Shall in eternity rejoice,
Where endless comforts flow.

1. Fa-ther of mercies, in thy word What end - less glo - ry shines! For ev - er be thy name a-dored For these ce - les - tial lines.

2. 'Tis here the tree of knowledge grows, And yields a fair re-past; Here pur - er sweets than na-ture knows In - vite the long-ing taste.

SWEET IS THY FRIENDLY VOICE. C. M.

A. AULD.

1. Sweet is thy friendly voice which speaks The words of life and peace, That bids the penitent re - joice, And sin and sor - row cease.

2. No healing balm on earth like this, Can cheer the con-trite heart; No flattering dreams of earthly bliss Such sure de-lights im - part.

ELON. C. M.

Moderato.

1. Let all the lands, with shouts of joy, To God their voi-ces raise ; Sing psalms in honor of his name, And spread his glo - ri - ous praise.

2. Through all the earth, the nations round, Shall thee their God confess ; And, with glad hymns, their awful dread Of thy great name ex-press.

GRANGER. C. M.

Fervor. Steadiness of time.

1. Man in immortal beauty shone, Thy no - blest work be-low ; Too soon by sin made heir a - lone To death and end - less woe.

2. Then, "Lo ! I come," the Saviour said, O be his name a-dored ! Who with his blood our ransom paid, And life and bliss restored.

2. Thy chosen temple, Lord, how fair,
Where willing vot'ries throng,
To breathe the humble fervent prayer,
And pour the choral song,

Now let the Father, and the Son,
And Spirit, be adored ;
Where there are works to make Him known,
Or saints to love the Lord.

With fervor, warmth, feeling.

1. O Lord, my heart cries out for thee, While far from thine a - bode; When shall I tread thy courts, and see

My Sa - viour and my God, My Sa - viour and my God.

2. Could I command the spacious land,
Or the more boundless sea,
For one blest hour at thy right hand,
I'd give them both away.

Now let the Father, and the Son,
And Spirit be adored,
Where there are works to make Him known,
Or saints to love the Lord.

Affetuoso.

1. We love thy ho - ly tem - ple, Lord, For there thou deign'st to dwell; And there the her - alds of thy word

Of all thy mer - cies tell, Of all thy mer - cies tell.

2. There, in thy pure and cleansing fount,
Washed from each guilty stain,
Our souls on wings of faith shall mount
To heavens eternal fane.

Now let the Father, and the Son,
And Spirit, be adored;
Where there are works to make Him known,
Or saints to love the Lord.

TYRONE. C. M.

MILGROVE. 107

1. Hap-py the heart where graces reign, Where love inspires the breast ; Love is the brightest of the train, Love is the brightest of the train, And strengthens all the rest.

ELKTON. C. M.

1. Lo ! what an en-ter - tain - ing sight, Those friendly breth-ren prove, Whose cheerful hearts in bonds u-nite, Of har - mo - ny and love.

2. Where streams of bliss, from Christ the spring, Descend to eve - ry soul, And heavenly peace, with balmy wings, Shades and bedews the whole.

1. How oft, a - las ! this wretched heart, Has wan - dered from the Lord ; How oft my rov - ing thoughts de - part,

For - get - ful of his word ! For - get - ful of his word.

2. Yet sovereign mercy calls ' return ;
Dear Lord, and may I come ?
My vile ingratitude I mourn :
O take the wanderer home.
3. Thy pardoning love, so free so sweet !
Dear Saviour, I adore ;
O keep me at thy sacred feet,
And let me sin no more.

HYMN 2.—UN. HY. p. 272.

1. Think, O ye, who fondly languish
 O'er the graves of those you love,
 While your bosoms throb with anguish,
 They are singing songs above.
 While your silent steps are straying,
 Lonely through the night's deep shade,
 Glory's brightest beams are playing
 Round the happy Christian's head.

2. Light and peace at once deriving
 From the hand of God most high,
 In his glorious presence living,
 They shall never, never die.
 Cease then, mourner, cease to languish
 O'er the grave of those you love ;
 Pain, and death, and night, and anguish,
 Enter not the world above.

Former friends how oft I've sought them, Just to cheer a troubled mind, Now they're gone like leaves of autumn, Driv'n before the dreary wind.

When a few more days are wast-ed, And a few more scenes are o'er, When a few more griefs I've tasted, I shall rise to fall no more.

2. I looked again and autumn's blast,
Had strip't that rose of all its charms ;
And death with withering power had passed,
And clasped the babe in icy arms ;
Now where the leafless rose bush sighs,
Low in the grave that infant lies.

3. How nature's cruel law, I cried,
Cuts short the hours of beauties reign ;
But nature's cheering voice replied,
They both shall live and bloom again :
The one in spring shall grace the grove,
And one shall smile in courts above.

HYMN. Child of sin and sorrow 6s & 5s..

L. MASON.

143

Affetuoso.

1. Child of sin and sor - row, Filled with dismay, Wait not for to-mor - row, Yield thee to - day ; Heaven bids thee come While yet there's room ; Child of sin and sor - row, Hear and o - bey.

2. Child of sin and sorrow,
Why wilt thou die ?
Come while thou canst borrow
Help from on high :
Grieve not that love,
Which from above,
Child of sin and sorrow,
Would bring thee nigh.

Bold and vigorous.

1. Watchmen, onward to your sta - tions, Blow the trum-pet long and loud,
Preach the gos - pel to the na - tions, Speak to eve - ry gather - ing crowd, See! the day is break-ing; See the saints a - wak-ing,

No more in sad - ness bowed, No more in sad - ness bowed.

2. Watchmen, hail the rising glory
Of the great Messiah's reign,
Tell the Saviour's bleeding story,
Tell it to the listening train;

CONTRAST.

8s, 5s, 7s, & 4s.

Harmonized and arranged by A. AULD.

153

1. I have sought round this ver-dant earth For un - fad - ing joy, I have tried eve - ry source of mirth, But all, all will cloy, Lord be-stow on me

2. I have wandered in ma - zes dark Of doubt and dis - tress; I have had not a kind-ling spark, My spi - rit to bless; Cheer-less un - be - lief

Grace to set my spi - rit free: Thine the praise shalt be, Mine, mine the joy.

Filled my lab - 'ring soul with grief: What shall give re - lief, What shall give peace.

3. I then turned to the gospel, Lord,
From folly away,
I then trusted thy holy word
That taught me to pray;
Here I found relief,
Here my weary soul found rest,
Hope of endless bliss,
Eternal day.

4. I will praise now my heavenly King,
I'll praise and adore:
I'll the heart's richest tribute bring,
To the God of power;
And in heaven above,
Saved by thy redeeming love,
Loud the strains shall move,
For ever more.

1. Ye sin - sick souls draw near, And ban - quet with your King, His roy - al boun - ty share, And loud ho - san - nas sing:

Here mer - cy reigns, here peace a - bounds, Here's blood to heal your dread - ful wounds.

2. But may a soul like mine,
 All stained with guilt and blood,
 Approach the throne of grace,
 And converse hold with God?
 Yes! Jesus calls, come, sinners, come,
 In mercy's arms there yet is room.

MESSIAH WILL REIGN.

(Words by REV. D. TRUEMAN.)

A. LANE.

155

1. Mes - si - ah will reign, despite all his foes, Though heathens complain and skeptics op-pose ; His mandates are fraught with gladness and peace,

His kingdom, blood-bought, must ev-er increase, must ever in - crease.

2. Messiah will reign beneath and above ;
Opposers are vain, his scepter is love,
He traces their path, encircles their ways,
And twines with their wreath a garland of praise,
A garland of praise.

4. Messiah will reign, his truth to defend,
On land, on the main his servants attend,
Though dangers beset, exciting despair,
Oh ! never forget that Jesus is there.
That Jesus is there.

3. Messiah will reign, his subjects to bless,
To soften each pain, each wrong to redress,
To shield from the blast the feeble and old,
And give them at last a heavenly fold,
A heavenly fold.

5. Messiah will reign, let earth shout and sing ;
The Lamb that was slain is our mighty King,
Eternal his throne, his triumphs complete,
Even death cowers down, a slave at his feet,
A slave at his feet.

6. Messiah will reign, Omnipotent Lord,
The wicked enchain, the righteous reward ;
Descend from on high, with angels and flame,
To banish for aye who trust not his name,
Who trust not his name.

7. Messiah will reign, though sung oft before,
Shall echo again on Jordans far shore,
Ye sinners forgiven prolong the glad strain,
And shout earth and heaven, Messiah will reign,
Messiah will reign.

4. You may talk of your prospects of fame, or of wealth, And the hopes that oft flatter the favorites of health ; But the hope of bright glory, of heavenly bliss ! Take away every other, and give me but this.

5. Ever hail, blessed temple, abode of my Lord ! I will turn to thee often to hear from his word ; I will walk to thy alter with those that I love, And rejoice in the prospect revealed from above.

A HOME IN HEAVEN.

Arranged by A. AULD.

157

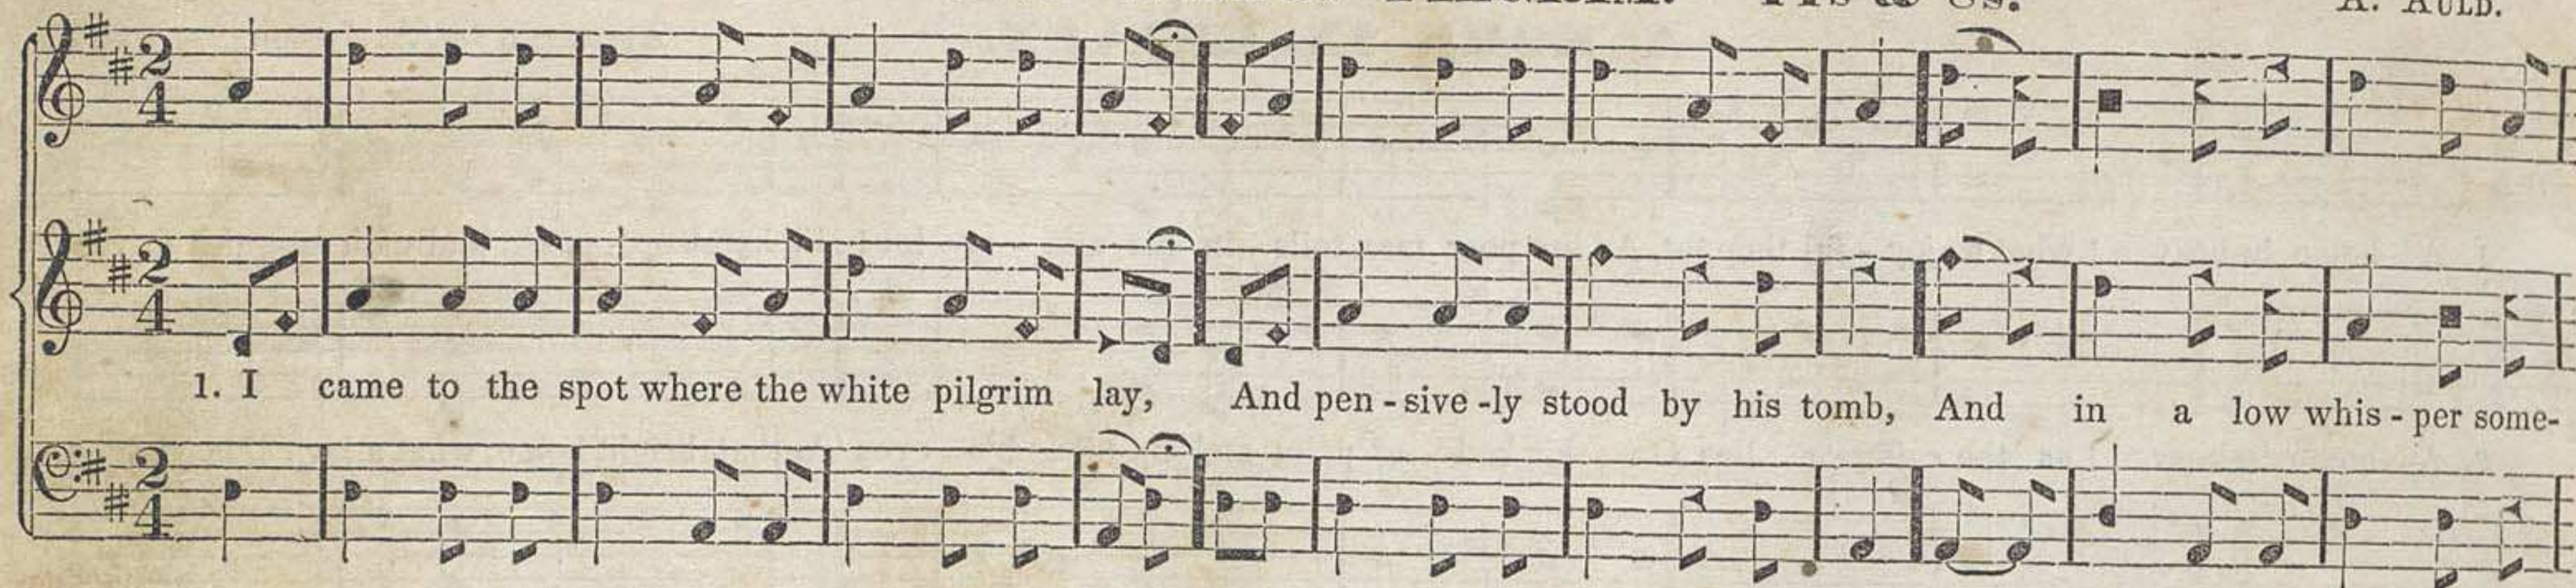

1. A home in heaven ! what a joy - ful thought, As the poor man toils in his wea - ry lot ! His heart op - prest, and with an-guish driven

2. A home in heaven ! as the suffer-er lies On his bed of pain, and up-lifts his eyes To that bright home, what a joy is given,

From his home be - low to his home in heaven, in heaven, From his home be - low to his home in heaven.

With the bless - ed thought of a home in heaven, in heaven, With the bless - ed thought of a home in heaven.

1. I came to the spot where the white pilgrim lay, And pen-sive-ly stood by his tomb, And in a low whis-per something seemed to say, How sweet-ly I sleep here a-lone.

2. The tempest may howl and loud thunders may roll,
And gathering storms may arise,
But calm are my feelings, at rest is my soul,
The tears are all wiped from mine eyes.
3. The call of my Master compeled me from home,
I bade my companion farewell,
I left my sweet children who for me now mourn,
In a far distant region to dwell.
4. I wandered a stranger, an exile from home,
To publish salvation abroad :
I met the contagion and sunk in the tomb,
My spirit ascending to God.

2. See how beauteous on the mountains
Are their feet whose grand design
Is to guide us to the fountains
That o'erflow with bliss divine—
Who proclaim the joyful tidings
Of salvation all around—
Disregard the world's deridings,
And in works of love abound.
3. With my substance I will honor
My Redeemer and my Lord:
Were ten thousand worlds my manor,
All were nothing to his word.

PRAISE THE LORD.

3. The nearer still she draws to land,
More eager all her powers expand ;
With steady helm, and free bent sail,
Her anchor drops within the veil ;
And now with joy she folds her wings,
And her celestial sonnet sings,
I'm safe at home.

4. Now safely moored no storm I fear,
My God, my Christ, my heaven is here,
And all the joys of paradise
In holiness and beauty rise ;
'Tis now the soul with folded wing,
Her thrilling notes of joy shall sing,
Glory to God.

5. Some say I'll soon give o'er, you shall see,
Some time has passed away,
Since I began to pray,
And I feel the Lord to-day,
Bless his name.

6. Oh! had I angel's wings I would fly;
Had I wings like yonder dove,
I'd soar to worlds above,
To see the God I love,
On his throne.

7. Oh! now I'm going home to the Lord,
Oh now I'm going home,
Poor sinner wilt thou come,
Or meet an awful doom
From the Lord.

WE COME WITH JOY AND GLADNESS. (ANNIVERSARY HYMN.)

1. We come with joy and glad-ness To breathe our songs of praise, Nor let one note of sad-ness Be mingled in our lays;

2. The sound is wax-ing stronger, And thousand na-tions hear, Proud man shall rule no lon - ger, For God, the Lord, is near;

3. And then shall sink the mountains, Where pride and power are crowned, And peace, like gentle fountains, Shall shed its pureness round.

For 'tis a hal-losed sto - ry, This theme of freedom's birth; Our fa-ther's deeds of glo - ry Are e-choed round the earth.

And he will crush op-pres-sion, And raise the hum-ble mind, And give the earth's posses - sion A - mong the good and kind.

O God! we would a - dore thee, And in thy shad-ow rest: Our fa - thers bowed before thee, And trusted and were blest.

WM. B. BRADBURY. 167

1. 'Tis a les-son you should learn, Try, try a - gain, If at first you don't succeed, Try, try a - gain ; Then your courage should ap-pear,

2. Once or twice tho' you should fail, Try, try a - gain ; If at last you would prevail, Try, try a - gain ; If we strive 'tis no dis-grace

For if you will per - se - vere, You will con-quer, nev - er fear, Try, try a - gain.

Though we may not win the race ; What should we do in that case ? Try, try a - gain.

3. If you find your task is hard,
 Try, try again ;
 Time will bring you your reward,
 Try, try again ;
 All that other folks can do,
 Why, with patience, cannot you ?
 Only keep this rule in view,
 Try, try again.

There's nae Ren-wick now, las - sie, There's nae gude Car - gill, Nor ho - ly Sab - bath preachings Up-on the mar-tyr's hill.

2. It's naething but a sword, lassie—
A bluidy, bluidy ane,
Waveing owre puir Scotland,
For her rebellious sin.
Scotland's a' wrang, lassie,
Scotland's a' wrang,
It's neither to the hill nor glen,
Lassie, we daur gang.

3. The martyr's hill's forsaken,
In simmer's dusk sae calm;
There's nae gathering now, lassie,
To sing the evening psalm;
But the martyr's grave will rise, lassie,
Aboon the warrior' cairn,
An' the martyr soun' will sleep, lassie,
Aneath the waving fern.

The Rev. Donald Cargill, mentioned in the first of the stanzas, was Minister of the Barony Parish in Glasgow, where by faithfully expounding the truths of the gospel, he rendered himself obnoxious to the Prelatists, and was forced to conceal himself from their rage. * * He made many narrow escapes, but was at length apprehended, subjected to a form of trial, and executed at Edinburgh, at the age of 71 years, on 27th July, 1681. * * * Inspired by the calm triumph of the martyr over the power of tyranny, Renwick resolved from thenceforth to cast in his lot with the "persecuted remnant;" and his subsequent life was, as he doubtless expected, a very chequered one. Surrounded by difficulties and dangers, before which men greatly his seniors had quailed, he labored on for the edification of the afflicted people of God, until, after about eight years of incessant toil, he was apprehended, tried, and executed in Edinburgh, 17th Feb., 1688, at the early age of 26. * * * The second stanza evidently refers to a prediction uttered shortly before his death by that remarkable character, the Rev. Alexander Peden. * * * In the introduction to his last sermon, Mr. Peden made use of the following language. "There are four or five things I have to tell you this night:—A bloody sword, a bloody sword, a bloody sword, for thee, O Scotland, that shall pierce the hearts of many. Many miles shall ye travel, and see nothing but desolation and ruinous wastes in thee, O Scotland. The most fertile places in thee shall be as waste as the mountains. * * * The piece first appeared about twenty-five years ago, in R. A. Smith's Vocal Melodies of Scotland; and its existence was quaintly accounted for by the following short paragraph:—"Taken down from the singing or crooning of Janet Gillespie, an old woman residing in the parish of Kilmalcolm." It was consequently received as a veritable relic of Covenanting times, and appreciated as such by all who saw or heard it. It was subsequently ascertained, however, that it had no existence anterior to 1823,—that the words were from the pen of one of Scotland's talented poets, Robert Allen, of Kilbarchan; and the melody composed by Mr. Smith, in whose work it was first printed. * Published by request in the Ohio Harmonist

PART III.

A SUPPLEMENT OF CHOICE TEMPERANCE SONGS.

OH! FATHER, LEAVE ME NOT.

[Arranged by ALEXANDER AULD.]

1. Stay, father, stay; the night is wild, O leave not now your dying child; I feel the icy hand of death, And short and shorter grows my breath; O, father, father, leave me not.

2. Stay, father, stay; ere morning's light, My soul may wing her upward flight; And, O! I cannot, cannot die, While thou, my father, art not by: O, father, father, leave me not.

3. Stay, father, stay; my mother's gone,
And thou and I are left alone;
And from her star-lit home on high,
She'll weep that I alone should die.
Oh! father, father, leave me not.

4. Stay, father, stay; O leave this night
The mad'ning bowl, whose with'ring blight
Hath cast so dark a shade around
The home where joy alone was found.
Oh! father, father, leave me not.

5. Stay, father, stay; alone—alone,
With none to cheer, and none to mourn,
How can I leave this world of woe,
And to the land of spirits go?
Oh! father, father, leave me not.

6. Stay, father, stay; once more I ask:
O, count it not a heavy task
To stay with me till life shall end,
My last, my only earthly friend.
Oh! father, father, leave me not.

This Supplement is added to the "Harmonist," by special request, for the use of Temperance Societies. May it do much good in the cause of Temperance, and dry up the of many bereft families.

LADY WASHINGTON.

1. I am a poor in - e - briate, I come to seek relief of you! O, save me from my lost estate, I'll sign your pledge and keep it too. I've lost my all, I've come to you, To

2. My frame is weak, my heart is sick, I've suffer'd more than tongue can tell; Thoughts run apace, they bring me back To home, to friends, when all was well. I've drain'd the cup, I've revel'd long; At save me e're it be too late. Your pity, friend, is all I ask; O save me now, for mercy's sake.

Bacchus' shrine no more I'll meet; My wife is dead, my children gone; And now I have no friends to greet.

3. We never pause, when at our door,
A wretched, trembling drunkard stands,
To ask the cause that made him poor,
Or why he now our help demands.
Come to the waters flowing wide,
Its crystal fountains, soft and clear—
Come, take the pledge; naught shall betide;
You've temp'rance friends—you need not fear.
4. We heal the sick, we clothe the poor;
The drunkard's wife and children feed;
We bring them in at virtue's door;
We bind their hearts, no more to bleed.
Come to our halls—we'll heal your wounds,
We give relief to all that come;
Our name is known through all the land,
'Tis "Lady Washingtonian."

2. Sadly my wife lowered her beautiful head,
Long, long ago,—long ago.
Oh, how I wept when I knew she was dead,
Long, long ago,—long ago!
She was an angel—my love, and my guide—
Vainly to save me from ruin she tried;
Poor broken heart; it was well that she died,
Long, long ago—long ago!
3. Let me look back on the days of my youth,
Long, long ago—long ago!
I was no stranger to virtue and truth,
Long, long ago—long ago!
Oh, for the hopes that were pure as the day
Oh, for the loves that were purer than they!
Oh, for the hours that I've squandered away,
Long, long ago—long ago.

THE PURE CRYSTAL SPRING.

[Arranged by ALEX'R AULD.]

1. What's beauty's deadliest foe? 'Tis the still. What sheds countless charms below? 'Tis the rill. See it spread before the eyes, Beauties of a thousand dies;

2. What can mar the sweetest face? Al - co - hol. What can dress it up with grace? Show'rs that fall. See them on the landscape sink, Paint the grass and deck the pink.

3. What can make the angry frown Drunkards know. What can charm the passions down? Streams that flow. See the songsters drink and fly, Charming earth and charming sky.

Oh, 'tis sent in full sup - plies. Drink thy fill; Drink thy fill.

4. What engenders strife and guile? Belial's bowl.
What brings peace and virtue's smile? Streams that roll.
They that for the bev'rage come, Find an earthly heaven at home,
See, O see them, scatter'd from Pole to pole, pole to pole.

Come, O come, with joy, and drink; Great and small; Great and small.

5. What can make us sick and poor? Sots can tell.
What brings plenty to the door? Water will.
Drink, Oh drink it merrily, 'Twill a glorious treasure be,
Leaving all thy stores to thee, Growing still, growing still.

Drink - er, to the foun - tain high, Fear - less go; Fear - less go.

6. What brings vice and guilt below? Strong drink brings.
What makes streams of virtue flow? Crystal springs,
Stay no longer at your wine, But partake the gift divine,
Then you may in virtue shine, Queens and kings.

HIGH, O! THE DRUNKARDS GO.

1. An - oth - er song we'll sing to you; The same old sto - ry, noth - ing new,
Of those who get so aw - ful blue, They don't know what on earth to do; But drink the li - quor—drink; But drink the li - quor—drink.

They drink all night, till broad day - light, And are dead drunk in the morn - ing. High, O! the drunk - ards go Fall - ing a - way like melt - ing snow.

2. The drunkards when they have a high,
Low in the ditch or corner lie;
But we will drink and never fall,
Nor even in the gutter sprawl;
But drink—the water drink,
But drink—the water drink,
We'll drink and eat and sleep so sweet,
And up in the morning early.

Chorus.—High, O! the drunkards go,
Falling away like melting snow.

3. The drunkards curse, the drunkards swear,
And for their rum is all their care;
They drink up all the rum they get,
But we will drink cold water yet.
Then drink—the water drink,
Then drink—the water drink.
While we can drink cold water pure,
We'll never sup your brandy;

Chorus.—High, O! the drunkards go,
Falling away like melting snow

4. The drunkard goes home cross at night,
He scolds his wife and has a fight;
And when he rises from his bed,
O dear! O dear! his aching head.

Then drink—the water drink,
Then drink—the water drink.
We'll drink and eat and sleep so sweet,
And up in the morning early.

Chorus.—High, O! the drunkards go!
Falling away like melting snow.

5. The drunkard, he spends all his cash,
His credit's lost and soon he'll smash;
The poor house takes the man and wife,
And that's the end of a drunkard's life.
Then drink—the water drink,
Then drink—the water drink.
We'll save our gold till we are old,
And then we'll all enjoy it.

Chorus.—High, O! the drunkards go,
Falling away like melting snow

6. But times have changed—now in our day,
The drunkards turn the other way;
They leave their rum and sign the pledge,
And keep the right side of the hedge.

Then drink—the water drink,
Then drink—the water drink.
The drunkards leave the brandy shop,
And turn to the living fountain.

Chorus.—High, O! the drunkards go,
Falling away like melting snow

7. The toddy-stick is rusting out,
The tapster he has got the gout,
He'll soon have nothing else to do,
But sign the pledge and start anew.
Then come and sign the pledge,
Then come and sign the pledge,
And "life anew and temp'rance too,"
Shall forever be our motto.

Chorus.—High, O! the drunkards go
Falling away like melti

WE'RE A BAND OF FREEMEN.

197

1. The te - to - tal - ers are com - ing, The te - to - tal - ers are com - ing, The te - - to - tal - ers are com - ing, With the cold wa - ter pledge.

CHORUS.

We're a band of free - men, We're a band of free - men, We're a band of free - men, And we'll sound it through the land.

2. We have alcohol forsaken,
We will all the land awaken,
Stand firmly and unshaken,
To the cold water pledge.
We're a band, etc.

4. We will stop the curse of 'stiling
Alcoholic drink for killing,
And all fermented swilling,
With the cold water pledge.
We're a band, etc.

6. Huzza for reformation,
By all in ev'ry station,
Throughout this wide creation,
With the cold water pledge.
We're a band, etc.

3. We will save our sisters, brothers,
Our fathers, sons, and mothers,
Our neighbors and all others,
With the cold water pledge.
We're a band, etc

5. Then come, ye jolly tillers,
Priests, doctors, lawyers, 'stillers,
Come jug and bottle fillers,
Take the cold water pledge,
We're a band, etc.

7. May no evil e'er betide us,
To sever or divide us,
But the God of mercy guide us,
With the cold water pledge!
We're a band, etc.

The musical score consists of three staves. The top staff is the vocal line, written in treble clef with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a time signature of 6/8. The middle staff is the alto line, also in treble clef with the same key signature and time signature. The bottom staff is the bass line, written in bass clef with the same key signature and time signature. The music is a hymn tune with a melody that repeats in the first and third staves. The lyrics are printed below the staves.

1. Say not that woman's voice Must stay its silv'ry note, While the far hills and vales rejoice,
 And on each breeze doth float, While the far hills and vales rejoice,
 And on each breeze doth float.

2. Glad tidings from the field
 Where temp'rance armies stand,
 Against king alcohol to wield
 The sword with fearless hand!

3. Let woman, too, rejoice,
 To see the foe recede;
 And let her in the "still small voice,"
 The cause of temp'rance plead.

4. And while the thunder-tone
 Of eloquence is stirred,
 Her whispered warning, God may own,
 His voice through her's be heard.

5. Say not that woman's heart,
 Its fullness must contain,
 Nor from compassion's fount impart,
 To other hearts again.

6. For since her sex hath shared
 The evils of the foe,
 Let not her sympathy be spared
 Where yet is felt his blow.

7. Say not that woman's hand
 For temp'rance hath no power,
 That she must meek spectator stand
 In reformation's hour.

8. Behold! in garments made,
 What woman now hath wrought;
 How is th' inebriate's home array'd,
 In comforts she hath brought!

9. See how the gentle band
 Of sisters onward move—
 How in one cause have heart and hand,
 United works with love!

10. Go on—do what you can,
 And as by Eden's laws,
 "Woman must be helpmeet for man,"
 So, in the temp'rance cause.

FREEDOM.

199

1. Friends of free - dom, swell the song, Young and old the strain pro - long, Make the tem - p'rance ar - my strong, And on to vic - to - - - ry.

Lift your ban - ners, let them wave, On - ward march, a world to save, Who would fill a drunk - ard's grave, And bear his in - - fa - my.

2. Shrink not when the foe appears;
Spurn the coward's guilty fears,
Hear the shrieks, behold the tears,
Of ruin'd families.
Raise the cry in every spot—
"Touch not, taste not, handle not,"
Who would be a drunken sot!
The worst of miseries?

3. Give the aching bosom rest,
Carry joy to ev'ry breast,
Make the wretched drunkard blest,
By living soberly.
Raise the glorious watchword high,
"Touch not, taste not, till you die,"
Let the echo reach the sky,
And earth keep jubilee.

4. God of mercy, hear us plead!
For thy help we intercede;
See how many bosoms bleed,
O heal them speedily.
Hasten, Lord! the happy day,
When, beneath thy gentle ray,
'Temp'rance all the world shall sway
And reign triumphantly.

NOW I'LL NOT DRINK ANY MORE.

1. Go, go, thou that enslave me, Now, now thy power is o'er; Long, long have I obeyed thee, Now I'll not drink any more: No, no, oh, no, Now I'll not drink any more.

2. Thou, thou bring me ever,
Deep, deep, sorrow and pain,
Then, then, from thee I'll sever,
Now I'll not serve thee again;
No, no, oh, o,
No, I'll not serve thee again.

 Father, guardian, fare thee well.

3. Farewell, sister, thou art twining
 Round me in affection deep,
 Wishing joy but ne'er divining
 Why a blessed bride should weep ;
 Farewell, brave and gentle brother,
 Though more dear than words can tell
 Father, mother, sister, brother,
 All beloved ones, fare ye well.

Can I leave you, can I leave you, Can I leave you, Far in heathen lands to dwell? Can I leave you, Far in heathen lands to dwell.

Can I leave you, can I leave you, Can I leave you, Far in heathen lands to dwell? Can I leave you, Far in heathen lands to dwell.

3. Scenes of sacred peace and pleasure,
Holy days and Sabbath bell:
Richest, brightest, sweetest treasure,
Can I say a last farewell!
Can I leave you,
Far in heathen lands to dwell?

5. In the desert let me labor,
On the mountains let me tell
How he died, the blessed Saviour,
To redeem a world from hell!
Let me hasten
Far in heathen lands to dwell.

4. Yes I hasten from you gladly,
From the scenes I love so well,
Far away, ye billows, bear me;
Lovely native land farewell!
Pleased I leave thee,
Far in heathen lands to dwell.

6. Bear me on, thou restless ocean,
Let the winds the canvass swell;
Heaves my heart with warm emotion,
While I go far hence to dwell:
Glad I leave thee,
Native land, farewell! farewell!

With a tug, and a pull, and a smile.

3. When I play, I will play like a merry boy,
And my play shall be cheerful and free;
When I work, I will work like a Yankee boy,
With a right good will it shall be:
At work or play endeavor still,
To do it all with a right good will;
Then away, then away, O Yankee boy,
With a smile and a pull all so free.

4. Let's away with a cheer, with a glad hurrah!
Like a man I will toe to the mark:
Leave my play—all my play at the school-room door,
With a heart like a cheerful lark:
And I will work all the time I'm there,
I'll keep each rule, and I'll work with care;
Come away, haste away, there's the school bell, hark!
I will try to be the first on the floor.

ear can heed me, Where no eye for me shall weep.

3. Not one sigh shall tell my story,
Not one tear my cheek shall stain,
Silent grief shall be my glory,
Grief that stoops not to complain.

4. When with thee what ill could harm me?
Thou couldst every pang assuage;
But when absent nought could charm me,
Every moment seemed an age.
